

Kennebec County

Adams, Denise L

AUGUSTA

I am excited for an opportunity to participate in this democratic process! I take voting delegate responsibilities very seriously. I would be honored to be a delegate and plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as our nominee. I would be happy to nominate a candidate with a strong path to win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. At this critical juncture, democracy and rights face unprecedented, previously unimaginable challenges. After the ICE shooting in Biddeford, Mainers are stung by the lack of willingness by Senator Collins to force real change in dangerous and discriminatory ICE raid practice. However, during this tough year, we are buoyed by our impressive, people-driven movement that is demanding change. This energetic movement is well poised elect a Democratic Senator who reflects Maine people and progressive values. I'm excited to be part of an effective GOTV volunteer effort this fall with new and old strategies - knocking on doors, calls, texts, talking with neighbors, and more. Our many nieces and nephews and aging family members deserve better. Reproductive rights weigh heavily on my mind for young women. LGBTQ family and family with disabilities face unanticipated and frightening challenges to their rights. Mainers deserve adequate living wages, affordable housing, healthcare, including substance use disorder treatment and recovery, and a clean environment. My amazing, progressive 92-year-old mother passed away in December, and she would have loved to have voted for Dr. Shah.

Adams, Scott

RANDOLPH

Democrats must remove Susan Collins. Democrats will be the saviors of this country, as they have been before, and a new Democrat Senator for Maine will be a significant step forward. The candidate we choose who will prove we are not the vile and evil beings that Collins' Republican Party, Donald Trump and Fox News pretend we are. Democrats can prevail in this conflict; we recently and successfully led Maine to protect our voting rights, and we must continue to oppose and overcome the violent lawless behavior so recently seen in Biddeford. I had expected to peacefully retire, but this contest for democracy and human dignity remains to be settled. I believed this country turned a corner with Barack Obama's election; in my life we made it to the moon, the air and water got cleaner, and bald eagles returned to the Kennebec River, democracy arose from totalitarian regimes I thought we had left the tragedies and dangers of American life behind: the Cuban missile crisis, the Vietnam war, the Kennedy assassinations, the constant fear of nuclear annihilation, the threat of foreign and domestic terrorism, never-ending wars in Afghanistan and Iraq There is still much work to be redone. As I redirect my efforts from retirement to activism, I ask for your support and I promise to use my vote to support the protection and if needed the return of democracy and the rule of law.

Albis, Annette

CHINA

I want to make a difference for Our community and state & being a delegate I believe will fulfill that desire. I want our leaders to have compassion for those constituents that need assistance in order to survive.. I believe Programs that assist the elderly, and most vulnerable in our communities be identified & addressed. Susan Collins is not a leader for the needs of Maine or the country. The atrocities that are occurring in our Country that she Supports by standing behind Trump needs to stop, I believe NIRAV SHAH leadership is needed for Maine people & our country. I believe his intelligence & leadership will make a difference. I want to support his run for Senator. ??

Disability

Alexander, Richard S

HALLOWELL

I plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as our nominee. I am running to be a delegate to ensure we nominate a candidate that is, in my opinion, the most qualified and capable individual running for this critical office. I will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously.

Ali, Britni

LITCHFIELD

I intend to support a campaign that is grounded in listening, trust, and accountability—meeting Mainers where they are and focusing on the issues that shape their daily lives. While Susan Collins has built a long career on moderation, too often her votes in Washington have not aligned with the needs and values of Maine families. The next Democratic Senate candidate should offer a clear alternative: consistent, transparent leadership that Mainers can rely on. I believe a path to victory would center on three priorities. First, economic security—lowering costs for working families, protecting Social Security and Medicare, and supporting small businesses that are the backbone of Maine’s communities. Second, protecting fundamental rights, including reproductive freedom and access to affordable healthcare. Third, investing in Maine’s future through infrastructure, education, and good-paying jobs that allow people to stay and thrive in our state. The campaign momentum could build on a broad coalition—engaging rural, suburban, and urban voters alike—by showing up, listening, and earning trust through honest conversations. This campaign would not be about party labels, but about listening to, and fighting for Mainers, delivering results, and restoring confidence that government can work for the people. Ultimately, Maine Dems can win by offering something many voters feel is missing: clarity, consistency, and a genuine commitment to put Maine first, every time.

Allan, Stephen

WINSLOW

I think we need to nominate someone who shares the ideals of our previous candidate. We did not vote for an individual, but the ideas he promoted; the fight he was willing to commit to; the hope we shared. I believe that progressive beliefs are worth fighting for. Compromise and negotiation that squanders our collected ethos may have worked years ago, but now is not the time. Now is not for us to surrender to these evil men. I believe in hope for the future, and I would vote accordingly.

Asch, Christopher Myers

HALLOWELL

I would be thrilled to participate in the State Convention to select the Democratic nominee. I am an active, well-informed Kennebec County voter with many connections in the Hallowell-Farmingdale community and in the Jewish community through Temple Beth El - Augusta. I am in my third term on the RSU 2 School Board member, I volunteer as a soccer and baseball coach, and I have served on many different volunteer boards (including Vaughan Woods Historic Homestead, Holocaust and Human Rights Center, and Hall-Dale Music Boosters). I also co-founded and ran (for 8 years) the Capital Area New Mainers Project to welcome refugees and immigrants to central Maine. As part of that work, I helped guide New Mainers through the citizenship process, developed election guides, organized voter registration drives, and drove new voters to the polls on Election Day. To defeat Susan Collins, I will take a “whatever it takes” approach to volunteering. I am willing to knock on doors, call potential voters, write letters to the editor, educate new voters, drive people to the polls, . . . anything we must do to turn out the vote. These kinds of efforts are most effective when they come from people who are well-known and well-respected in the community, and I have built many long-term relationships in Kennebec County.

Aspinall, Bethany

WINTHROP

Maine doesn't need another six years of Susan Collins. The stakes in Washington are far too high. As a rural Maine voter, “moderate” politics has no place when it comes to standing up in the fight against fascism. I believe we have an opportunity to grow the grassroots movement against entrenched bureaucrats through direct action. That means knocking on doors, talking with neighbors who feel let down by the status quo, and galvanizing young and independent voters who are hungry for meaningful change. I plan to bridge the gap between state party leadership and local activism by organizing in my community to cultivate action from the enthusiasm we share. I will commit to phone and text banking on a weekly basis, as well as engaging in digital campaigns to mobilize support around our chosen candidate and defeat Collins in November. I humbly ask for your vote today so that together, we can turn our shared values into a victory that will be felt for generations.

LGBTQIA+, Disability

Astephen, Christopher

RANDOLPH

As a relatively new resident of Maine living in Randolph, I am excited and inspired by the opportunity to serve as a delegate at this pivotal moment and bring a voice to our small community. Between Susan Collins' lack of resistance to Trump, the early excitement of Platner's campaign, and the state of politics overall lately, I was inspired to look for ways to be more active and take action in ways that I can. The best way to see change is to make it happen and I know that we can elect a candidate this November that represents who we are as a state, the care we show for our fellow neighbors, and love for the place we call home. I hope that by being selected as a delegate, I can help bring a diverse mindset to the process, demonstrate how we are capable of tackling unique challenges, and embrace differing perspectives. I will work with my local democratic committee to continue building momentum to elect Democrats across the board this November and ensure our communities know what our candidates stand for and the future we can have together.

LGBTQIA+, Disability, Youth

Aucoin, Maureen P

HALLOWELL

My name is Maureen AuCoin and I would like to serve as a delegate to select our next Democratic US Senate Nominee. I am a lifelong Democrat, a former City Councilor in Hallowell, a committed community activist and a current candidate for Maine House District 55. I understand the role of delegate carries significant responsibility in this important moment in Maine politics. I would approach it with integrity, careful consideration of candidates, and a commitment to representing the interests of the Democratic party. I am willing to listen, participate, and make thoughtful decisions. Throughout my years of civic engagement, I have worked to strengthen our communities by listening, collaborating, and supporting policies that expand opportunity, protect individual rights, and build a stronger future for Mainers. In the last six months, I have knocked on hundreds of doors and had hundreds of conversations with voters about their concerns and priorities. I would bring that experience and those voices to the role of delegate. It would be an honor to serve as one of the delegates to ensure this important decision results in a candidate who reflects the values and priorities of Democrats of Maine and who can also build the broad coalition necessary to succeed in November. I will pledge to help that candidate in whatever way possible to continue building a grassroots movement that inspires voters to defeat Senator Susan Collins. Democracy is strongest when citizens participate, listen to one another and work together to solve problems.

Ball, Stephen Carter

WINDSOR

I am deeply interested in defeating Susan Collins. Any amount of work needed to defeat her is work worth doing. This is, in my opinion, an election with enormous consequences and I want to be a part of shaping the future of Maine and the country. I have been a candidate for the State House from Windsor. Though I lost, I made an impact. I remain a strong supporter of Democratic candidates in my district and across the state. Though living in a deeply red district I continue to be a voice for our party at every chance in town politics. The opportunity to select a candidate who will represent all of Maine is before us. I strongly support many of the planks of the previous candidate for Senator; namely, single payer/universal health care, refocusing economic policy to support working class Mainers, reducing the outsized influence of corporations and billionaires, true and lasting gender and sexual justice, and economic policy conscious and respectful of the environment. Putting a Democratic Senator from Maine in the Senate will have a lasting impact on the courts, in business, in schools, and homes. We cannot get this wrong and I believe I can play a small, but positive part in putting us on track to defeat Collins.

Barrows, Scott A

FARMINGDALE

I have been a life long Democrat. I want to help pick a nominee to defeat Collins who has betrayed her trust to Maine constituents. I've been a delegate in the past and I understand that the process is to come together and as a group find the common ground that will get us a Senator that can represent the needs of the people. I've seen the attitude at our local caucus of 'you are with us or against us' and I saw the divisiveness that it caused. I'll come with my opinion of who is the best candidate but I'll also have an open mind. I will support the Democratic candidate! Thanks.

Bastey, Megan

AUGUSTA

I have been supporting the Democratic party and dem supported referendum questions for more than thirty years. I have not always agreed with party decisions or operations, but have tried to provide support, without compromising my own ethics, to make needed change within the party. This support includes phone-banking, door-knocking, letter writing, candidate campaign work (Howard Dean, Barack Obama, Bernie Sanders, Shenna Bellows, Graham Platner, Libby Mitchell, Kalie Hess, Amanda Heath and many many more) as well as referendum work (marriage equality, minimum wage, ranked-choice voting and more). I have also been a nonpartisan Registrar for the City of Augusta Elections for more than ten years and an election worker for more than fifteen. I also have worked on non-partisan ride s to the polls and get out the vote campaigns. I have been a registered democrat for 30 years (when I turned 18), but working in some capacity as a dem since I was 15. I have been a delegate to the state convention for Howard Dean, Barack Obama, and Bernie Sanders twice, and also went this year. I am a progressive and vote primarily with workers rights, consumer rights, civil rights, and civil liberties in mind. I testify for and against bills and try to make every day count. I am a public librarian and ethics are extraordinarily important to me. I believe it is imperative that we win this Senate seat.

Bear-Fowler, Matthew

HALLOWELL

I think that we have a crucial opportunity to nominate a candidate who can take off running in the short term before November. I have strong preferences about who that candidate should be. I will phone canvass and volunteer in any other ways that are compatible with my disabilities. I have hours upon hours of experience volunteering for past campaigns.

Bechard, Jane Alyson

AUGUSTA

I'm interested in being a delegate to serve as a member of the Nominating Convention in Bangor on July 25th. Choosing the right person to defeat Susan Collins in November and continuing to build the grassroots momentum Democratic socialists like Graham Platner began is very important to me. I believe my voice speaks for many, and the good people of both Kennebec County and Maine deserve to be represented by someone who will fight for the needs of the people over the whims of corporate billionaires. Thank you for the consideration.

Berube Pierce, Gabrielle Marie

AUGUSTA

I have been a volunteer and staffer for Democratic and Progressive candidates since I turned 18 and I have experienced first hand the serious consequences of the opioid crisis (my sister passed from an overdose 4 years ago and I am a member of the City of Augusta's taskforce to distribute opioid settlement funds), the lack of universal healthcare in this state, student loan extortion and disinvestment in public education (I am PSLF-eligible but unable to receive forgiveness right now due to defunding Dept of Ed and I am a member of our local board of education with children in our public schools). I am committed to supporting the candidate who can defeat Collins!

Betts, James Thomas

WINTHROP

I want to elect a candidate that can beat Susan Collins and holds the cause that 72% of primary voters elected support. I have been active in Democratic politics for over 50 years. I am presently donating and will continue and increase my donations to the new candidate and will do doors. In the last presidential election, I knocked on over 2000 doors.

Bibro, Barbara

AUGUSTA

I plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as the Democratic candidate for governor of the state of Maine.

Bielecki, John

BELGRADE

I am a physician who has practiced in maine since 1984. 250 words is not sufficient to adequately express my outrage towards Susan Collins' complicity in the Trump administration's wholesale attack on our democratic institutions. So, sticking with what I know best, I predict that if Collins remains in office as part of a republican senate majority, healthcare in Maine, especially in rural areas, will continue to deteriorate. It is not enough that our nominee be able to voice our common concerns (which include, in the case of healthcare, affordability and access, women's right to choose, and restoration and improvement of our public health infrastructure), but that they be able to win the race. It goes without saying that our candidate must have the unconditional support of our strong base in the 1st district, but do well among independents and make a strong showing in the second district. I believe that candidate should be Troy Jackson. He has consistently championed the value of lower and middle income workers and sought to address the destructive effects of the rich-poor divide, which is a key grass roots concern. I have volunteered for numerous democratic candidates since the 1960s on both the national and state level and pledge to talk with colleagues, friends, and neighbors to defeat Collins, and to work for our candidate in whatever way is felt most effective toward that end.

Bielecki, Judith E

BELGRADE

I am running to be a delegate in support of Troy Jackson because I feel he is the strongest candidate to defeat Susan Collins and fight for the Democratic ideals of universal healthcare, Women's reproductive rights, labor rights, education, and the environment. Personally, I believe his strong record on healthcare is the key to allowing Mainers to pursue a better life. In 1978 I gave birth to a son at Houlton Regional Hospital. This past year its birthing unit was closed due to Republican budget cuts and corporate greed. This January, the nurses there stood in the freezing cold to protest their lack of a union contract. Troy was the only candidate for governor who stood out there with them. That told me a lot about who he is. He not only talks the talk, but walks the walk. If selected as a delegate, I will continue the grass roots volunteering and financial support I have given to Democratic candidates over many years in multiple counties in Maine. No bickering. Eyes on the prize! Thank you

Bigelow, Lindsey

GARDINER

I am interested in becoming a delegate for Kennebec County because I feel incredibly strongly that voting is one of the most important rights we have, and ensures that our representatives uphold our values and ideals. I am a labor attorney that grew up in northeastern Vermont and have been living in Maine for the past 11 years. During those 11 years, I have been involved in Maine politics, whether I was door knocking or phone banking for local and national democratic candidates, or volunteering for voter protection shifts. There were many things about the Platner campaign that I appreciated and want to see in our future candidate, including centering working people. In order to defeat Susan Collins in November, it's important that we have a progressive candidate that is focused on improving the lives of working people, supports healthcare for all, and wants to get big money out of politics. The grassroots momentum we've seen this past year has been exciting, and the only way to keep building on that is to ensure people want to be involved. We need to be excited about what a candidate believes in, and we need to see that they practice the principles that they speak about. We need a candidate that is going to make us want to talk to our friends and family about them, want to knock doors for them, and want to vote for them.

Birden, Joshua

WATERVILLE

I want to be a delegate to exert what power I have left, to form a united front with other likeminded individuals and to help guide our state to a future where we can be truly represented. As a Maine resident and a U.S. citizen I have felt more and more powerless over the course of this administration's term, especially now after the events of this current election. I believe that a progressive candidate is vital to the survival of our state's role in the Senate and our democracy as a whole, one that champions the platform that inspired such numbers in this previous nomination process. We need someone who can stand in the face of fascism and light a fire underneath the many who have felt so disenfranchised for years. Voters, especially the younger generation, need this so we can see the turnout necessary to defeat Susan Collins.

Youth

Birkhimer, Nancy

LITCHFIELD

I believe that it is critical that the Democratic Party select a candidate who can continue to build momentum, and bring both Democrats and others together to defeat Susan Collins, and build a future that reflects the values of democracy, compassion, and fairness. We must united to stop the current corrupt and dangerous administration, while also building hope and positive policy changes that with create opportunities for all people in Maine to thrive.

Bishop, Daniel

WATERVILLE

I am a high school social studies teacher, a new father, and a proud Kennebec County resident hoping to serve as a state delegate. I teach my students about the importance of democratic participation. Now, as a father, I feel an even greater responsibility to actively shape a better, more equitable Maine for the next generation. As part of this, I plan to volunteer at local registration drives to ensure that voters in our community have the resources and information needed to participate in November. We need a stark departure from the self-serving status quo championed by Susan Collins. My vote at the convention will be shaped by the urgent needs of working families and our local communities. I am looking for a candidate who will fearlessly fight for progressive values that lift up everyday Mainers. I want a candidate dedicated to making life affordable, who fights for universal healthcare, and someone who prioritizes workers' rights across our state. As a teacher, I will also firmly back a candidate who supports educators and universal Pre-K to give every child a fair start. Additionally, we must choose a leader who prioritizes peace and diplomacy over needless overseas warmongering and intervention. Maine needs a forward-looking progressive nominee who will fight for the people, not the powerful. I humbly ask for your support to represent Kennebec County at the convention, ensuring our collective voice builds a fairer, more affordable, and hopeful future.

Bjork, John

WINTHROP

I have experience working on campaigns since McGovern ran in 1972 and have served as a delegate many times. I feel that this is a critical time to work for a better future for our children and grandchildren and intend to contribute to these efforts in every way possible.

Disability

Blanchard, Ann

FARMINGDALE

I am 69 years old and a life long voting Democrat. I am struggling with the precedent being set due to the current circumstances which have led us to this point where a small group of concerned citizens will be appointing someone to this IMPORTANT position as a US Senator. I want to be one of these citizens. I want to see the process. Susan Collins must be defeated.

Disability

Boccia, George Louis

HALLOWELL

Shenna Bellows is the only candidate who has been present at protests at the state capitol. She not only walks the walk, she has the experience needed to represent Maine in the Senate and to defeat Collins. I hope to canvass for Shenna.

Booker, Angelica S

AUGUSTA

I would be honored to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because I am deeply committed to Democratic values and to ensuring that the voices of working families are represented in our party. As a State employee, a proud member of SEIU/MSEA Local 1989, and the mother of a child with special needs, I understand firsthand the importance of strong public services, quality healthcare, educational opportunities, and economic security. I would bring those perspectives to the convention and work to help unite Democrats around a nominee who will fight for Maine families. I want to help the Maine Democratic Party continue building on its grassroots momentum. By recruiting and mentoring new volunteers, strengthening local organizing efforts, and engaging working families and young voters, we can grow our movement and create lasting change. My experiences as a union member, public servant, and parent have shown me the power of collective action, and I am eager to help build a stronger, more inclusive Democratic Party for Maine's future.

LGBTQIA+

Booker, Jennifer

MOUNT VERNON

I want to be a delage because I have 3 children and I am terrified for their futures. I believe the only way to preserve democracy is for the people to actively participate in the process. It is my civic duty to do what I can. Also I'm tried of sitting around feeling helpless. Collins must go. We have qualified people ready to fight and this process is essential or we have nothing.

Bottesch, Sharon

WINTHROP

I have been a delegate representing Winthrop for the last two Maine Democratic Conventions. I am very concerned that we nominate a Second District Senate candidate that can beat Susan Collins. I have seen a significant increase in young people becoming interested in and actively participating in getting out the vote for Graham Platner and other Progressive candidates. We need someone who will continue to engage the youth and independent voters who might turn away from voting altogether due to feeling their concerns were cancelled.

Boucher, Joseph E

AUGUSTA

I believe that defeating Susan Collins is a necessary step to taking back our country, from people who are too long have ignored the needs of those they represent. As a lifelong Democrat, who began campaigning to elect a Democrats well before I could vote, I know that the Democratic Party is party of working people and must continue to push forward in support of them.

Boucher, Lance L

MANCHESTER

I'm seeking to serve as a delegate to the nominating convention because I have spent my life committed to this state and the values that have energized Mainers over the last 11 months of this Senate campaign. As a progressive, lifelong Mainer I have worked on campaigns at the local, state, and federal levels, building a deep respect for grassroots organizing, the power of collective action, and the challenges facing everyday Mainers. My passion for public service is rooted in the belief that our government must work for everyone, not just the wealthy and well-connected. It is essential that we stand firm in defense of democratic institutions while also demanding better from our own party leaders in DC who are not doing enough to meet this moment. We need bold change: universal health care through Medicare for All, stronger unions, accountability for corporate polluters, and real action to protect our climate and ensure clean air and water. We must empower working people, reduce the influence of concentrated wealth, and end endless wars. As a delegate, I will support a nominee who reflects these values. But our work does not end at the convention—it begins there. Those who are elected delegates don't just have a one day task – the 600 selected need to be committed to being community leaders over these next 16 weeks where we organize, knock doors, make calls, raise funds, and turn out every possible vote to defeat Susan Collins. .

Bourgoine, Bruce

READFIELD

Thank you for caring deeply about our future. Regrettably, I pen this on a day a man was murdered by ICE in Maine, an exceptionally hot day in a climate changing world. Recently we've witnessed dismantling education, basic human supports, and foreign aid. We suffered a mass shooting in our state. Our country has profoundly changed not for the better. Through all this Susan Collins has been complicit and ignored realities. Our primary expressed and sharpened our aspirations. Its energy must continue to win Maine and better serve all the people of these United States. The coming convention charges us with the singular purpose to select the person representing our values to finally defeat Collins. We urgently need inclusive service over selective payoffs, real actions, and a future orientation confronting issues that affect people's lives over naive trickledown theories. I personally commit to helping move us forward. I'm a writer, photographer, former newspaper publisher, elected four times to local non-partisan offices with Democratic ideals, convention delegate, caucus convenor, and former state committee member. I've been involved in many liberal progressive campaigns from McGovern to Harris, state campaigns, and assist local candidates on grassroots levels. I'm married to a great educator, father of two strong daughters, and concerned grandfather knowing we must mold a future beyond inequality, violence, and climate disaster. Like our Declaration of Independence, we must forcefully charge and challenge Susan Collins, lay out our dearest values, and vigorously fight to win. To this I pledge.

Bourque-Namer, Marie A

WAYNE

I am seeking to serve as a delegate to the Maine Democratic Party's Senate nominating convention because I know that the timing is critical for us to help choose a candidate who can defeat Susan Collins in November and fight for all Mainers with integrity, compassion, and courage. I was born here, was educated and lived here most of my adult life as a lifelong Democrat. As a delegate, I will support a nominee committed to expanding access to affordable, high-quality health care for every person in our state. Health care is a human right, and the fact that our hospitals and clinics in rural areas are closing and physicians are scarce is unacceptable. I believe our party must champion safe, fair, and humane pathways to citizenship for immigrants who contribute to our communities and strengthen our economy. Our immigration system must reflect our values of dignity, opportunity, and justice. Affordable housing is another urgent priority. Every Mainer deserves a safe, stable home, and we need leaders who will increase housing availability, reduce utility costs, and strengthen communities. I also believe we need leaders who will restore public trust by supporting reforms that prohibit members of Congress from accepting corporate PAC contributions and from trading in individual stocks while in office. As a delegate, I will listen carefully, evaluate every candidate thoughtfully, and help select a nominee who can unite us, inspire voters, win the general election, and advance these core Democratic values for all Mainers.

Disability

Brann, Michelle A

WINTHROP

I am a lifelong Mainer and Democrat, and I'm a 20+ year public school teacher, serving as the president of our union through which we use our collective power to fight for our students and colleagues. I am an active member of the MEA, serving on their Government Relations Committee and Legislative Action Committee, and I frequently participate in Western Maine Labor Council activities. I am currently volunteering on a former student's campaign for the State House. As a high school teacher and mother of two teen boys, it has never been clearer to me that we are at a turning point, and it is only through collective action that we will be able to steer our communities and country into a future that serves all of us.

Breton, Michelle

OAKLAND

My name is Michelle Breton, and I'm a special needs mom and nurse practitioner working in addiction medicine in Kennebec County. I would like to serve as a delegate because our very democracy is at stake, and I can't be idle. I believe what we do right now will leave an indelible mark on history for better or worse. To defeat Collins, I plan to volunteer to canvas at a grassroots level, continue donating to progressive campaigns, and write engaging content to persuade voters that Dems will fight for a better, safer country and world, a stable economy, and a reasonable economic safety net for all. I look forward to learning from the expertise of those more experienced than I in organizing so that we can work together to maximize our efficiency in this short time we have before November. There is no room for infighting. Instead, ALL our effort must go toward our rightful seat in the Senate so that we can steer the U.S. back on course to reaching our full potential as one of the greatest nations in the world. Let's build on the momentum we already have and bring the good fight. We've got this! Yours in unity, -Michelle Michelle Breton, EdD, PMHNP-BC

Bridgeo, William

AUGUSTA

As a lifelong Democrat and as a Democratic state representative for the past four years, it is vitally important to me that Maine rejects the national politics that Susan Collins continues to support. The Trump Administration and its congressional enablers are destroying the government of this country I love. We in Maine have a special chance to effect an important change in this situation by removing Collins and sending someone to the U.S. Senate who will stand for the rule of law and against the Trump kleptocracy. I hope that I am able to be part of the process to select that person.

Bromberg, Harry

OAKLAND

I would like to become a delegate so that I can directly have an impact on who I would like to be the next senator of and for Maine. To be a delegate would be an honor as I would have the chance to listen to not only those around me but of the men and women that are running to defeat a woman who has been in office for longer than I have been alive. I would choose to help my fellow mariners by voting to put forth the best candidate that not only would beat Susan Collins but believes in Medicare for all, raising the minimum wage to a living wage, free schooling of public institutions, more funding for health providers, universal childcare, and would aim to establish reproductive rights for women, and force millionaires and billionaires to pay higher taxes. To help spread and grow the grassroots momentum we have going I would talk to many people I know to get them to vote and support the cause. As a Mainer I believe that it should be Mainers who elect and nominate the new candidate and I feel strongly that someone who is willing to listen to everyone should get that chance. As the ultimate goal is to put forth the best candidate to defeat Susan Collins.

Youth

Bromberg, Mary Kathleen

OAKLAND

As a Maine woman and mother of two children, the stakes have never been higher with Susan Collins in office. I have previously worked with almost all of the candidates as a legislative aide in the Maine Legislature and feel confident that I can make an informed decision for the people of my community about who can not only beat Susan Collins in the fall, but who will serve Maine in the U.S. Senate with the respect and dignity we deserve. Maine can do so much better.

Bromberg, Samuel

OAKLAND

I would like to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because the stakes of this election could not be higher. Our party needs to nominate the strongest candidate, someone who will put the interests of Maine first, effectively communicate our values, and build the broad coalition necessary to defeat Susan Collins in November. As a delegate, I will focus on selecting the candidate who not only best represents Democratic principles but also has the strongest path to victory. Defeating Susan Collins must be our top priority. After years of Washington politics, Mainers deserve leadership that is fully committed to addressing the challenges facing working families, protecting fundamental rights, and moving our state forward. Winning will require a united Democratic Party focused on both our shared values and the practical work of turning out voters. Building on our grassroots momentum means continuing to grow our network of volunteers, listening to voters in every community, and maintaining the energy that has brought so many people into the political process. By nominating the strongest candidate and organizing at the grassroots level, we can build a winning coalition, defeat Susan Collins, and ensure that Democratic values are front and center in shaping Maine's future.

Brown, Donald L

GARDINER

I have been a loyal Democrat since turning 18 when I successfully help an aunt win State of , Maine House seat. In 1996 I was very much involved in all aspects of volunteering for Joe Brennan's campaign to beat Susan Collins when she first ran. I would find no better satisfaction to see her defeated in 2024. I've successfully supported my wife to win her House seat twice now in Maine and currently the Vice-chair of the Gardiner Regional Dem Committee. As a life long Mainer, I want nothing more than to see the Democratic party secure the majority in the US Senate to correct the wrongs the current White House administration has conducted. Finally, we need to capitalize on the movement that has started to defeat the current conservative movement to help and sustain the power of the common working class.

Burdick, Samantha Ann

WATERVILLE

I'm running to be a Troy Jackson delegate because our community needs someone who truly understands the challenges we face every day as working-class Mainers, and has a long legislative record of passing policies, listening, and getting things done. This past year, I've watched neighbors face the panic of slashed SNAP benefits, the fear of ICE in our communities, the threat of losing health insurance, and the closure of local healthcare facilities. When we flooded Senator Collins' office with calls, we were met with silence. We deserve representation that actually listens AND takes action. I have dedicated myself to grassroots work by volunteering for our party as a municipal treasurer, city councilor, knocking on doors, collecting signatures, and recruiting candidates who share our values. I'm not just asking for your vote—I'm ready to do the hard work. Every election, I've phone-banked, written letters to the editor, donated, and knocked on doors to help elect Democrats up and down the ballot. This is the energy we need now more than ever to build unstoppable momentum for November. Together, we can elect Democrats from local school boards to the State House, elect Hannah Pingree as our next governor, and finally defeat Susan Collins. I believe Troy Jackson is the leader who will empower us to achieve these victories, and I ask for your support.

Burke, Jane

AUGUSTA

I'm an artist and a chaplain. I've been a Kennebec County resident most of my life. I'm very motivated to do all I can to help Maine's Democratic nominee defeat Susan Collins, and I plan to continue to work with my community volunteering for the candidate that is elected. We need a candidate who is trustworthy and can relate to statewide voters. We need healthcare for everyone, housing affordability for all who work, a candidate who will stand up to this administration and work with others for reform and restoration for injustices including flushing out and prosecuting ALL criminals connected with Epstein. I want our candidate to fight to get us out and keep our country out of unnecessary wars, We need to make planet health a priority and plan for future needs which climate change will necessitate. We need daycare, reproductive freedom, rights of all people protected including protection from ICE's violence. I would also like a candidate who will work on creating term limits, limiting the money spent on campaigns, and stopping insider trading..... i still love America and Maine! it would be an honor to represent the Democrats of Kennebec County.

Burney, William

AUGUSTA

As a former Mayor of Augusta, I know that the people of Central Maine want change in the Congress. Starting with former Governor Curtis, I have over 40 years in public service in Maine, working at the local, state, and federal level. I know about elections and I know today's issues. I can help the convention select the best candidate to be the new Senator from Maine. To help that candidate win, I will transition from delegate to supporter, sharing our candidate's message with as many as possible and providing what financial support I can. As far as maintaining momentum, I would encourage the new Senator to form alliances in the Senate that would make it easier for 'small America' to be heard. That's about it. I will help if I can. Bill Burney Augusta

BIPOC

Campbell, Theodore

AUGUSTA

I'd like to serve as a delegate because I want to ensure that my generation's voice is heard in this process. As a young adult in college, I am worried about what our country will look like when I graduate. My concerns are shared by many my age. Not only do Senators make decisions that affect the present, but also the future. I want to do my part to ensure that the candidate selected will be a fighter for working people and stopping climate change. Susan Collins has disappointed me in these regards. Additionally, Susan Collins has shown a disregard for human rights, shown by her signing of a ballot measure that would limit the rights of transgender athletes. As for defeating Susan Collins, I will knock on doors to spread support for our candidate. Through previous campaign work I had conversations with many Mainers across the state and saw many frustrations with how Susan Collins votes, whether it be her approval of Trump's Supreme Court justices or the Big Ugly Bill. I am prepared to have more conversations with Mainers, this time to encourage them to support our candidate. The grassroots momentum that was built by the Platner campaign must be kept. I will support that by volunteering at town halls hosted by our nominee, as well as the aforementioned doorknocking. Finally, as the Student Body President at the University of Southern Maine, I plan to host voter registration events to increase turnout amongst Maine Students.

Youth

Capanna, Phyllis M

OAKLAND

I want to serve as a delegate to the Democratic Nominating Convention in the process of nominating a candidate who can reclaim this Senate seat for progressives, and to ensure the candidate represents the best interests of the LGBTQ+ community—of which I am a member—and other marginalized communities in our state. I am a coordinating member of my local Indivisible group and play a key role in organizing events and actions that encourage members to participate in our democracy. My main role is writing and editing the weekly newsletter that is sent to our 500+ members. Countering misinformation and disinformation in today's information ecosystem is essential to restoring a functioning and healthy democracy, and I take my role seriously. I plan to continue this work in our effort to defeat Susan Collins. It is more important than ever to focus on the issues and values that inspired the majority of voters in the primary, as well as to emphasize the possible consequences of another six years of a Trump loyalist. I will volunteer for the campaign in whatever capacity is needed, and communicate candidate information both online and person-to-person. Focusing on the issues is key to continuing to build the grassroots momentum we already have. People are fired up about the prospect of having someone in Washington who will fight for ALL Mainers and develop the emerging vision for the future of the Democratic Party.

LGBTQIA+

Carlson, Karen

CHINA

I act when I feel strongly about something and believe I can make a difference. It may be writing and or calling a politician, encouraging others to do so, commenting on social media posts, talking with friends and family, testifying at a legislative hearing, attending a protest rally, driving a local candidate to visit voters, making calls on their behalf, and being a school board representative. These are things I have done. I feel strongly about defeating Susan Collins and having the voices of those not part of organized political committees expressed in the process of selecting the candidate to run against her. At this point with so many unknowns, it is difficult to say specifically what I would do to help defeat Collins and continue to build the grass roots movement beyond talking, commenting and voting. Everyone has constraints and strengths to offer. I believe a strength I have is offering ideas and approaches in reaching voters and messaging. I would be willing to offer such ideas and other efforts as welcomed. Thank you for considering my desire to be a delegate to the upcoming convention.

Chipman Jr, Lyman

AUGUSTA

I respect Dr Shah and his policies

Clark, Elizabeth-Ellen Ellen

WATERVILLE

I am deeply concerned about what is happening to our democracy, U.S. status worldwide, and the devaluing of human beings. I want the society my grandchildren enter as adults, to be one of kindness, acceptance, trust, and peace. I want us all to see the complexities in our world and the ripple effect and consequences of our actions. I attend KCDC meetings and was a delegate to the May convention. I have an open mind, and am not wedded to any one candidate. I will support the candidate who can best represent the people of Maine. In the past, I have given written and oral testimony, had letters to the editor published, written out postcards, contributed financially, and driven a candidate house to house. At my age, I no longer want to drive, but am willing to knock on doors with someone to accompany me. I don't mind speaking in front of an audience with adequate preparation. I am willing to do the other things I mentioned. I am a good listener and problem solver. I have a history of serving my communities as a member of town and union school boards, secretary of a library BOT, president of the Friends of the Library, and a Girl Scout Leader and school volunteer. Professionally, as a nurse, college professor, program director, and student advisor, I was a strong advocate for students, and assisted many who were struggling to be successful. I valued the inherent worth and dignity of each individual.

Underrepresented Religion

Clark, John R

WATERVILLE

I was a delegate to the last several state conventions.

Clark, Mary T

WAYNE

I want democracy to continue in this country. I want to help to defeat Susan Collins . I have been a delegate before

Clukey, Cheryl D

AUGUSTA

Although I have never been a campaign manager, I have been involved in many campaigns since high school. My parents were very involved in politics in Massachusetts. I would often accompany them to many local and State political conventions. My dad was a surrogate speaker for Senator Edward Brooks, who was the first African-American senator to win an election by popular vote in Massachusetts (1967 to 1979). Politics is in my blood. When Platner dropped out, I immediately called Troy Jackson, Nirav Shah, and Shenna Bellows. Jackson and Shah answered my phone call. I asked both of them if they “would consider running for the Senate” against Susan Collins. both said they were very interested and thinking about it.” I am very interested in becoming a delegate to be part of the process to nominate the candidate to run against Susan Collins. To me, this will not be a normal nomination process , as we are in crisis mode. Maine democratic voters are very stressed and worried. I believe the conversations and decisions made through this selection and nominating process will be very different than any other candidate process in past campaigns. I would like to contribute my voice. I believe The selected candidate will have to be the best person who CAN BEAT Collins. Instead of focusing on a candidates vitae, I believe the focus will have to be strength of the candidate s winability to beat Collins. I will work Very Hard to get the nominee over

Cobb, Amy K

WATERVILLE

Susan Collins must be defeated-- by a ROAR, not a whisper. The power of this movement is in each one of us. All of this pain, frustration, grief and rage leads us to a choice. Do we lean in, or do we quit? I choose to lean in. The force of our progressive wave will not be diminished! We need a candidate who can channel all of our energy into ACTIONS: provide healthcare and childcare for all; remove the billionaires' grip on our economy and elections; ABOLISH ICE; reinstate reproductive freedom; protect our land and water; reinvest in science; end the genocide in Gaza, and stop the illegal actions of the Trump regime. We also need someone who can take on the monstrosity that is Susan's re-election campaign. Someone who can clearly articulate her specific failings and broken promises, who can hold their own in debates, respond well to attacks, and whose presence exudes confidence, authenticity, and hope. It would be an honor to represent Kennebec County as a delegate at this convention. I will not engage in attacks on any of our candidates. I will volunteer on the campaign of our eventual nominee to ensure our progressive platform is front and center. I will work for use to regain the trust of those who feel so disaffected by the end of Platner's campaign that they say they won't vote in November. Every single Mainer who stands for CHANGE must vote for our nominee—and VOTE SUSAN OUT!

Disability

Cohen, Matthew Brian

LITCHFIELD

I'm a lifelong Democrat, and I want to serve as a delegate because this convention carries unusual weight: we're not just endorsing a candidate, we're choosing who carries our banner against Susan Collins. I believe the single most important criterion is nominating someone who can win in November, and I want a voice in making that judgment carefully and pragmatically. I also believe electability and principle aren't in tension here. Graham Platner built genuine grassroots energy precisely because he spoke plainly on issues many politicians avoid — the humanitarian catastrophe facing Palestinians in Gaza, opposition to war with Iran, the corrosive influence of billionaire wealth on our society, and unwavering protection of LGBTQ rights. As a delegate, I'll advocate for a nominee whose platform matches Platner's as closely as possible, because that platform is what mobilized volunteers and small donors across Maine, and abandoning it would demobilize the very people we need knocking on doors. To help defeat Collins, I am willing to do the unglamorous work: canvassing in my rural community, phone banking, writing letters to the editor, even interacting with media if asked of me (and coordinated by the state committee). Letting Collins win again isn't an option and I want to help. Lets roll!

Colan, Caroline Peacock

READFIELD

Beginning in high school, I dedicated my career to public service. Over the last decade I have worked for the elected officials representing the people of Maine in both the US Senate and at the state house in Maine. In both DC and Maine I had the opportunity to see how things 'get done' in hallways, back rooms, and late night phone calls, and I've also talked with thousands of Maine people about their frustrations with both parties or just to help them navigate challenging government systems. I've heard their calls to action and their desires for change- a more transparent and accessible system, a system that truly works for them and serves their needs. In Augusta I've also spent countless hours in committee rooms and testified on more than 100 bills before the Maine Legislature. These experiences have made me clearer eyed about the challenges of navigating this process, the limitations on accessibility, the need to reimagine the process, and affirmed my personal sense of duty to serve Maine people as best I can whether that's through direct government work or helping my neighbors with whatever I can. I can commit to continuing to show up in my own community and those around the state to continue these honest, transparent, and open minded conversations - the ones we need to have to keep chipping away at decades of distrust in govt, rebuild trust on our party, and defeat Susan Collins.

Youth

Collins, Lewis S

HALLOWELL

I am a lifelong dem, residing in Hallowell, and am very interested in this campaign. I have donated to many candidates throughout the years and am a recently retired School Superintendent and Director of Special Education. I believe I'd bring a unique perspective to the group. This election and control of the U.S. Senate is so critical to the future of our country. Susan Collins has served for 30 years after promising to serve no more than 12. Her votes have harmed Maine's and the national interests and it's way beyond time for her to go! I am not committed to any candidate at this point and remain open-minded about the process and each candidate's strengths. Thanks for considering me!

Connair, Paul Nathan

PITTSTON

I am interested in being a Kennebec County delegate because I feel I represent the progressive wing of Maine Dems. and would use my vote for U.S. Senate nominee accordingly. Upon moving to Maine in 2003, I registered Green Ind. and was active in the party; voting in every primary election, being the Registrar liaison and Facebook page moderator for my city. Around 2018, I changed parties so I could vote for a candidate in the 2020 Dem. primary who represented my "woke" values. Though I was unhappy with the Dem. presidential nominee in 2016, 2020, and 2024, I voted for the Dem candidate in those elections anyway because of the evil, fascist, racist, xenophobic, homophobic 3-time Republican nominee and 2-time president. I brought my Green Ind. values with me when I changed my affiliation to Maine Dems including Black Lives Matter, immigrant rights, feminism, LGBTQA rights, single-payer healthcare, peace, and justice for all as well as acknowledging institutional challenges such as racism, climate change, voter suppression, education reform, and the erosion of democracy and the rule of law as laid out in the Constitution. Collins needs to go so that Maine has a Senator who will work to impeach Trump, abolish ICE, and represent all Mainers because no one is illegal and government sponsored murder and assassination in our streets must be stopped immediately. Government agents who murder or break the law must be brought to justice.

Connors, Stephanie

AUGUSTA

I'd like to be a delegate because this process is important. This race is critically important for the future of our country and if I have the opportunity to help make a positive difference, I need to get involved. I'm a member of the teacher's union and have been for over a decade. I've advocated politically and phone banked for candidates in year's past. I can do that again.

Cooper, Amy

PITTSTON

In the past two years, I have attended several weekly protests in front of Susan Collins's office in Lewiston, as well as attended many statewide protests in Maine. Collins does not represent the people of Maine, she is a Trump sycophant and is only interested in further lining her pockets. I was an enthusiastic supporter of Graham Platner and attended his town hall in Phippsburg. I am ready to put my energy and focus into the new Senate nominee. I fervently hope that the new nominee will believe in the same core messages; one of the most important ones to me is support for Palestine. I would be honored to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention. I will help to spread the word among family, friends and my community as to why the new nominee deserves our support.

Cormier, Kimberley

BENTON

I think this is an opportunity to get a candidate on the Democratic ballot that reflects the concerns of the working class. Please count me in!

Crawley, Robin Gail

VASSALBORO

I plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as our nominee. I am running to be a delegate to ensure we nominate a candidate that can actually win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. I am excited for the opportunity to participate in this democratic process and will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously.

LGBTQIA+, Disability

Crockett, Paul D

MOUNT VERNON

I think we have an excellent slate of candidates and I commit to be open minded and listen to all candidate's message and how they can beat Collins and then decide which candidate has the best chance.

Cuff, Francis T

FARMINGDALE

My name is Francis (Frank) T. Cuff. I live in Farmingdale, Maine. I am retired after having a 40+ year career as a Professional Forester. The interests that I continue to pursue in retirement include sustainable natural resource management and working to alleviate food insecurity, housing insecurity and poverty issues in our communities through volunteer work at local food banks, community gardens, free meal programs and temporary shelter programs for the unhoused and others in need in our community. I would like to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because this is one of the most important elections for our state and our country in a long time. Maine needs a Senator who will stand up for the people of Maine, but also for our country and our Democracy. Democrats need to take control of the Senate and the House and stop this administration's unconstitutional and cruel actions and programs and hold them to account. I plan to help defeat Susan Collins by remaining active in my role as vice-chair of the Gardiner Regional Democratic Committee, by contacting voters, by contributing monetarily to candidate campaigns and participating in organized protest actions. This work, along with advocating for issues such as universal health care, housing and protection of the rights of all people will build on the grassroots momentum currently underway in Maine.

Dalheim, Dennis

WAYNE

I agree with Governor Mills' acknowledgment when she said 'I appreciate all that she, being Senator Collins, has done'. Having said that, as I see it, our democracy is being tested as never before and our Senator Collins' chosen response has been to silently ignore that threat. Unacceptable!!

Daughterity, Anne Marie

WATERVILLE

I have closely followed this election and feel I am up to speed on the declared nominees. I am also keenly aware of the need to defeat Collins. As a mother to young children, I am very vested in who reps our state.

Davidoff, Amy Jane

VASSALBORO

Since retiring as a Professor of Biomedical Sciences from the University of New England, College of Osteopathic Medicine in 2019, I moved to Kennebec County. I continued to be engaged in Democratic politics by running for the House District 61 (i.e., Vassalboro and part of Sidney) against a third term incumbent (losing), and helping run a campaign for the same seat the following cycle. I have been volunteering as a poll worker in my town since COVID, and continue to do so. I participate as a member of the newly formed Kennebec County working group for the Maine People's Alliance. Independent of politics, I have been engaged in the Kennebec County Regional Partner to enhance Digital Equity (i.e., access, affordability, literacy, online safety) and active in Digital Safety with AARP ME. I plan to help the Democratic candidates in my House and Senate Districts (by hosting house parties, knocking on doors and driving candidates), and will do the same for whomever our party nominates for US Senate. I am thoroughly committed to defeating Susan Collins because of her many poor policy positions. Perhaps the most egregious failing is as the Chair of the Appropriations Committee, where she had the opportunity to stop the Trump

Davis, Peter Henry

WAYNE

I would like to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention on the 25th of July because it has never been more critical to take back our country from the moral vacuum being created and promoted in Washington where Susan Collins has been a willing participant.

Davis, Ws Olivia

WAYNE

I would be honored to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because I believe strong Democratic leadership begins with engaged members who are committed to listening, organizing, and working together. I want to help nominate candidates who reflect our shared values of fairness, opportunity, and accountable government, and ensure our party is united and prepared to win in November. To help defeat Senator Susan Collins, I am committed to doing the work that wins elections: talking with voters, volunteering for canvasses and phone banks, supporting voter registration and turnout efforts, and encouraging others in my community to get involved. I believe that personal conversations and sustained community engagement are the most effective ways to connect with voters and demonstrate how Democratic leadership can better address the challenges facing Maine families. Beyond this election, I want to help our party continue building on its grassroots momentum by welcoming new volunteers, supporting local Democratic committees, and fostering an inclusive environment where every voice is heard. Lasting success comes from investing in people, strengthening local organizations, and maintaining year-round engagement—not just during campaign season. As a delegate, I would represent these values with enthusiasm, integrity, and a commitment to helping our party grow stronger for the future.

Disability

Dean, Candace Endicott

AUGUSTA

I was a delegate to the last convention and would like very much to be able to vote for a replacement to Graham. I am 80 years old and this may be my last opportunity to participate. I began working for democrats when JFK ran in 1960. I have been staff on 2 senate reelection bids and a volunteer for numerous other office seekers. I have always fought for democratic values.

Debritto, Flavia M

WATERVILLE

I am Flavia DeBritto, running to serve as a delegate because I believe strong democracy starts with people who show up, organize, and build trust in their communities. As a Maine State Representative and Waterville City Councilor, I have worked alongside neighbors to tackle issues like housing, public health, workforce development, and protecting the rights of all Mainers. I want to help nominate the strongest Democratic candidate to defeat Susan Collins because Maine deserves leadership that is accountable, courageous, and focused on working families. I will support our nominee by talking with voters, volunteering, attending events, and helping expand our coalition across communities that have too often felt unheard. I also believe our party grows stronger when we invest in grassroots leadership. As an immigrant, the first Black City Councilor in Waterville, and someone who believes deeply in public service, I know the importance of making room for new voices while strengthening the relationships that already power our movement. I will continue to encourage people to get involved, support local candidates, and help build a Democratic Party that reflects every community in Maine. I would be honored to serve as a delegate and represent the values of collaboration, service, and hope as we work together to move Maine forward.

Degon, Margaret

AUGUSTA

While I am disappointed that my candidate, Graham Platner, stepped down from the race for the Senate, I would like to ensure that the candidate selected represents the ideals espoused by Graham in his campaigning: Medicare for All, taxing the rich and addressing the rampant corruption at the federal level. The values espoused by the democratic socialist movement is critical to the survival of the democracy of the USA. I would be honored to serve as a delegate in the process of selecting a candidate to serve in the US Senate. Susan Collins must go.

Derose, Mary Megan

WINSLOW

I feel in my soul that the midterm elections of 2026 may be our best last chance to save our democracy. I want to be involved in trying to make the act of replacing a candidate as fair, open and transparent as possible. I want the thousands of volunteers whose hopes have been dashed to be able to 'buy in' to our chosen candidate with enthusiasm. If we can do that-we will beat Susan Collins, if we can't, we run the risk of losing our Republic. That is how important this moment of time is for our nation. Our future depends upon 'participatory democracy' and I feel it is my civic duty to participate.

Dill, Jens Mcleod

WINTHROP

I have been a delegate to the last two Maine State Democratic conventions. I have been actively involved in the No Kings protest movement. I've seen how Graham Platner's campaign vision brought in large numbers of young people and independent voters who would be the key to defeating Susan Collins in November. The fact that Graham's personal issues damaged his electability does not diminish the power of his vision or the effectiveness of the grass roots organization he created. As a lifelong Democrat I can see that the party need to leverage this new power. In the No Kings protests, I have seen how ordinary armchair Democrats (of which I was one) have been radicalized in response to the excesses of the Trump administration and the Republican Party. We need to embrace the progressive wing of the party and build on the grass roots movement Graham created. Staying moderate and complacent will not be enough to defeat Susan Collins and her millionaire backers.

Diversi, Nora

WEST GARDINER

I want to help beat Susan Collins. I am so frustrated with all of it.

Doore, Sarah

BENTON

I am a young Mainer who has lived here my whole life and been engaged with local and state politics since high school working with democratic candidates and helping train democratic women to run in Maine. I have also helped register hundreds of college students to vote in Maine over the past three years and deeply value the democratic process. I hear about the issues that young people are passionate about in my community and the concerns from older generations in my family. I believe I bring a unique perspective as a young person from Kennebec county who attends Colby college and my working class family has been here for generations. I chose to stay in Maine because I love it here and feel closely aligned with the state values. As a part of Maine's future I think I deserve to be a part of this democratic process.

Doreau, Deborah

WATERVILLE

I would support the candidate we choose by knocking on doors, delivering signs and calling Maine voters and encouraging others daily to do the same. I would be also be positive about our state and national party leaders as we move forward in this nomination process, listening to others, acknowledging our struggles and disappointment and offering optimistic encouragement that we ARE moving forward in a planned, structured, inclusive and democratic process. I would project a can-do attitude that we will win this important election for Mainers, our country and the world.

Downing, Richard Arthur

WINTHROP

I'm Richard Downing and I am running as a delegate to the convention that will nominate Maine's next Senator. I'm running because I want to do everything I can to make a better world for my children and grandchildren and all the Maine children I see in the 10 schools where I work as a substitute teacher. That's why I volunteered to chair the Winthrop Town Democratic Committee and have spent my time organizing meetings, knocking on doors and putting up yard signs. Now I want to be part of a movement that will unite Democrats and all Maine voters to keep Maine the great place it is and to make it even better. I want to conserve our clean air and water. I want good jobs for all Mainers, a roof over their heads, heat in the winter and enough to eat. I want Medicare for all and support women taking back control of their reproductive rights. Susan Collins will tell you that she supports all of this too, but she doesn't. She voted with Trump to take every single one of these things away. Masquerading as a moderate, she always has concerns and can raise a few bucks for Maine towns. Then she votes for "big beautiful bills" that make living costs unaffordable for most of the people she represents. We can and must defeat her. I respectfully ask you to support my nomination and elect me as a delegate who will nominate our candidate

Dugay, Edward R

AUGUSTA

Former legislator, disabled Veteran and have been a State delegate several times. I enjoy participating.

Dunn, John

FARMINGDALE

I would like to serve as a nomination convention delegate primarily to help elect the candidate that will have best chance to win in this coming midterm election. I believe this election is one of the most important in recent memory, and certainly one of the most important I'll have participated in. It is critical we win back at least one chamber and preferably both to start pushing back against the Trump administration's flagrant abuse of laws and people. Although I have my own preferences for different candidates, I would most like to talk to Kennebec democrats and be a representative voter rather than making the choice on my own.

LGBTQIA+, Disability, Youth

Dunn, Marilyn Lucille

LITCHFIELD

I have attended a couple of conventions before. I have been a registered dem for my whole voting life. I am hoping that the process of selection is as random as possible. Put the names of those willing to serve as delegates in a hat for each county and draw out the required number. Do not make this an essay contest or a good ol boys club. That would be the most democratic and transparent process.

Duplessie, Robert W

WINSLOW

I've been an active Democrat since the mid 1970's and was a State Representative from Cumberland County for 8 years, [1998-2006] and 4 of those as the House Assistant Majority Leader - 2002-2006. I was the Vice Chair of Cumberland County in the mid 1990's and on the State Party Executive Committee for 4 years in the 1990's. I've attended every Maine Democratic Convention as a Delegate since 1978 except 1 time when I was out of the country. Also, have attended as a Delegate to 2 National Conventions. I was highly active with the Oxford County Democratic Committee while living in Andover from 2007 -2024. Moved back to Kennebec County after leaving for 50 years. I grew up in Vassalboro and moved to Winslow in 2024 and was a Delegate this year from Kennebec County to the State Convention.

Eberhardt, Karin

ALBION

I am a Platner campaign volunteer and strong adherent to the progressive platform. The unprecedented grassroots movement in Maine does not belong to a person or party but to a policy platform that includes an end to the war in Gaza, an end to big money in politics (i.e. Citizens United), insistence that the wealthy pay their fair share in taxes, that economic systems be made more equitable, and healthcare reformed. I organized a group of constituents to meet with Collin's staff to oppose last summer's budget bill and have done canvassing, phone banking and research. I will support the candidate who is most clearly committed to these directions. I am ready for the Democrats to stand up FOR something, not just against.

Ehrenzeller, Patricia

OAKLAND

I have a surprisingly long history with the election process. Some of my earliest memories are of carrying candidate signs with my older brother trailing behind my mother in her march for democracy. As a woman born in the 1920s she never failed to participate in something so fundamental, so precious as voting. I spent weekends as a young child staring at the back of mom's sensible shoes while she handed out flyers, as a teenager many a week I was found in the campaign office stuffing envelopes and fielding phones along side her. Now, as a 70 year old, I never forget that to participate is honor and to vote is our right. This is the legacy she passed to me and one I passed to my daughters. So often it is about defeating another candidate or voting against them. I plan to elect a nominee I believe in and someone the democrats of Maine can vote for.

Ewing, Linda L

WINSLOW

I supported Graham Platner, but I agree with his withdrawal and am ready to move on. I am open minded about the new candidates and I support the process. A lifelong Democrat, I have been able to actively participate in elections more now that I am retired.

Fagan, Jayne

OAKLAND

I have been working with national progressive organizations for the past 15 years to educate the people of Maine (& country) about the harm of Susan Collins' lock-step Trump votes and policies. Maine deserves authenticity, we deserve actual town halls where we can question those sent to champion our voices. Maine Dems have momentum to unite and enact real change to win Susan's seat in November.

Faucher-Eldert, Mercedes Bianca

WINSLOW

If elected as a delegate I will represent Kennebec to vote for Troy Jackson.

LGBTQIA+, Disability, Youth

Finch, R Arthur

WATERVILLE

As a trans-American, Collins' continued representation in the Senate has done me grave harm. I have seen her SCOTUS candidates as well as other Federal judges issue bigoted rulings and know that if she stayed, she'd continue to vote for SCOTUS candidates and other Federal judges who harm not just me, but people I care about. A vote for Collins is a vote to eradicate me. We need representation in the Senate that stands for ALL of us, no matter how small the cohort is. Oppressed minorities need support from strong Progressive leaders more than ever. This includes Jewish Americans. It is beyond hypocritical to hold accountable a group of Americans for the actions of another country when we are adamant about making sure voters know we are not to be held accountable for the actions of the leader of our own country. Subtle anti-Semitism is on the rise, colored by the explosion of violence running throughout the country. When our leaders so eagerly and easily adopt the talking points of a Nazi-tattoo wearer, we risk our movement failing. Because if the Progressive movement fails Jewish Americans in a bid to win power, there is nothing stopping the Progressive movement from failing me in a bid to continue to hold that power - just like MAGA. I've been involved in politics since the 8th grade when I (successfully) challenged a discriminatory bus policy. I will fight hard for a TRUE Progressive candidate, who stands up for ALL Americans.

LGBTQIA+

Fiori, Michael

WINTHROP

I am a long time active Democrat who has participated in Conventions and Campaigns for Democrats since the early 1970s. Over these many years I have made and maintained many political and social contacts that would benefit any person nominated for the position to run against Susan Collins and would use my voice, contacts, and energy to see her defeated in November. This election is truly the beginning of what I believe will be an evolution of our Party in Maine and across the country. Essential are three things, More voter turnout, Younger voter involvement and turnout, and the large growing block of Independents who are moderate or slightly progressive. Most importantly our Party needs to encourage the many younger well suited Democrats to increase engagement and become voices. There are many. Chloe Maxim, Ryan Fecteau, Mattie Daughtry to name a few.

Fontaine, Cheryl W

SIDNEY

I want to be part of the solution to replacing Gram Platner with a candidate that our Democratic Party can be proud of, that can defeat Susan Collins. More importantly, and when Susan is defeated, our Democratic Senator must have the temperament and life-time experiences to serve the people of Maine and not President Trump.

Forsman, Timothy Lee

WINSLOW

Defeating Susan Collins is the most important thing Maine voters need to do this year and I want to participate in this process to make it happen

Fortunato, Staci

AUGUSTA

I am a former school board member who has the skills to negotiate and effectively communicate with people from all backgrounds. I am highly motivated to choose a candidate to defeat Susan Collins and make Maine well represented.

Frantz, Peter

READFIELD

?Thank you for giving me and others a chance to be part of this democratic process. Well done and bravo! I'll keep this simple and short. Job one is stopping Trump (project 2025) and enablers that support him. That means that Collins has to go. I'm a $ supporter of the Democratic party and we are clearly the best choice during these dangerous days. The republic is being destroyed. Democracy, freedom, rule of law, the constitution, the world and so much more will be on the ballots. The sun is going down in the U.S.A. and time is running out. I want to help. Thanks for your consideration and feel free to contact me if you want to discuss any of this. Sincerely, Peter S. Frantz.

French, Jonathan

HALLOWELL

I would like to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because this is a pivotal moment in not only Maine's history but in the history of the country. We must select a candidate who is ready to meet that moment, someone who can rally a unique coalition of Democrats, unenrolled voters, and even some Republicans to defeat Susan Collins. Through her votes, she has proven to be a threat to our democracy and the rule of law itself. All the money Collins has provided and could provide to Maine would never make up for the damage she has done and would continue to do if allowed to remain in office. Maine needs a senator who will not sell out our democracy and Maine values for a ribbon-cutting ceremony. There are many delegate candidates to choose from, but as a former Platner supporter, I recognize the momentum across the state to defeat Susan Collins to take back this US Senate seat for working families and retirees. I also recognize the importance of keeping that momentum growing by choosing a candidate who will respect the will of the primary voters, including unenrolled voters. I pledge to choose that candidate, and also to work to not only keep that coalition of voters together, but to add to it before November so we can build the necessary power to win back what is ours.

Fuller, Allan Melville

BENTON

I have owned at 304 Unity Rd, Benton since July 2004. I am an active voter who votes in every election. I am a Trustee for the Kennebec Water District. I was a delegate to the Maine Democratic State Convention in May. I graduated from University of Maine Orono with a Masters and Doctorate in physics. I am an Army veteran during the Vietnam War. I own my own company since 1994, FTIR.com, LLC, registered in Maine. My website is www.ftir.com domain since April 1994. I volunteered in the Platner campaign. I am very patriotic. I want what is best for Benton, Maine, U.S., and the world. I want a candidate that will represent the working class verses the billionaire class. I want a candidate that will defeat Senator Collins and grow the Democratic Party in the eyes of all the people.

Youth

Garwood, Philip E

GARDINER

I serve as the Chairperson of the Gardiner Regional Democratic Committee and as a member of the Kennebec County Democratic Committee. I represent the members of our Democratic committee and will work to ensure that the voices of the voters in the recent Democratic primary are fully considered in the upcoming nomination process.

Gianini, Glenn D

MANCHESTER

It is critically important that EVERYONE get involved in some way to stand up to the lies, deception, and criminal misconduct of MAGA and its supporters. Susan Collins, despite her claims to the contrary, votes along MAGA lines. This is my vehicle to contribute to this necessary change.

Glidden, Robert L Jr

WINTHROP

I believe maine needs troy jackson's representation in the us senate

Disability

Godbout, Jonathan

WATERVILLE

As the Executive Director of the Capital Area New Mainer Project serving hundreds of New Mainers with a volunteer base over 350 people, I have first hand experienced the consequences of having a senator unwilling to standup for our New Mainer community in Maine. I am committed to serving the party by any means necessary to unseat Susan Collins.

Goff, Irene C

VIENNA

I would like to participate in selecting the candidate who will solidify the existing grassroots base Graham Platner has created. It was a huge collective and mobilized to defeat Susan Collins. Selecting a candidate: who has repeatedly shown concern and taken action to defend the equality of all people; followed and enforced the law; can work across the 'aisle', listening to others; has a consistent core sense of values that haven't changed over time; is of prime importance to me. I would support a platform that stops corruption, expenditures for needless wars, healthcare for all and reigning in ICE. I have been an active member of the Democratic movement this year, attending the convention, canvassing and protesting. As a member of the lead team of Western Kennebec County Indivisibles, we can influence the actions that the group takes, stopping Susan Collins and electing a democrat.

Gorton, Jessica Leigh

READFIELD

I think this election is incredibly important, and regardless of who we choose for our candidate, I will work to get them elected. But I also think it's important to choose someone who can step into the race by amplifying the message that brought so many young people and unenrolled voters to this work in the last 9 months. We need to nominate a truly progressive leader who can bridge the Democratic constituencies. I'd like to help do that. I have years of supporting Maine democrats and organizing in this state to bring to these efforts.

LGBTQIA+

Gosline, Ann R

LITCHFIELD

I have been organizing in Litchfield and am committed to working hard to defeat Collins. You should give priority, however, to Robin Sukeforth, our candidate for house, and other previously elected delegates.

Gougeon, Lynn

GARDINER

The candidate who will beat Susan Collins is the candidate who can earn the trust of the 156,084 voters who showed up for Graham Platner, voters who were looking for a tsunami of change. We voted because we're beyond sick and tired of genocide and endless wars. We voted because women die when they are denied access to health care and reproductive freedom. We voted because we believe health care, housing, and food security are human rights. We voted against oligarchs and obscene wealth inequality. We voted for the dignity and worth of working class Mainers. We voted to keep big money out of politics. We voted for a solid, consistent, and well articulated platform that addressed all these issues. And finally, we voted to heal the manufactured division between us and our neighbors by knocking on doors, having real conversations, and finding common ground. We voted for a man who would have been an ironclad fighter in the senate, not only for the people of Maine, but for the entire country. In order to beat Susan Collins, the grassroots movement has a lot of healing to do, and there are scores of us who are more than willing to dive in and do that work. To keep the movement energized, it is essential that Maine Democrats include us in the process of choosing our new candidate. It is in solidarity that I thank you for the opportunity to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention.

Gravel, Greg

MONMOUTH

It is critically important that we nominate a candidate that can carry the message that has sparked such a ground swell of support in Maine. In doing so, the candidate must also have the moral conviction that is without question so that the message can be carried forward. Ms. Collins has lead us down a path of constitutional destruction and must be replaced. Our candidate must be able to pull together all of our voters so as to ensure success. I am 81 years young and I want a country that represents all of America, a country that I remember living in. We must be able to send a Senator to DC who can make a difference. Thank you.

Green, Gary

WATERVILLE

I would like to serve as a delegate because I have been and will continue to be deeply engaged in the political process of our state and our country. Voting has become a bigger battle each election for the Democratic Party and I hope to bring my integrity and honesty to the process to support a candidate who will represent the state with dignity and intelligence.

Gribbin, Joseph O'Neill

AUGUSTA

We need a voice for all Mainers in the Senate. I'm Joe Gribbin and I am a resident of Augusta. As a lifelong Mainer and current labor attorney, I believe that power should move from the people upward, not from the government or corporations downward. This campaign has shown that Mainers demand a stronger and more progressive voice in DC. Maine's voice at the national level should be leading the way toward a country that meets the needs of its 21st century inhabitants. Laws, regulations, and policies should benefit the populace through support and protection, not through division, exclusion, or harm. The voices that should matter are those of actual people, not corporations or PACs. Maine needs a senator that is or believes in the following, at an absolute minimum: pro-choice, unions for all, increase minimum wage and the salary threshold, Black lives matter, protect trans people, queer rights are human rights, abolish ICE, no one is illegal on stolen land, Medicare for all, free Palestine, no more wars, tax the rich and corporations, overturn Citizens United, and fund public schools. It will take work from us all to defeat Collins, but a candidate that knows and supports the needs of the working and middle-class in Maine can and should win. It would be an honor to serve as a delegate at the Nominating Convention to help select the candidate that will do just that.

LGBTQIA+

Hall, Douglas

ROME

I am running as a delegate to help insure we choose a candidate that can unseat Senator Collins. A candidate that best represents the will of the people. As a union activist I have spent a lot of time talking to people and have helped to get candidates elected. As a union member I know what solidarity truly means. Working together for the common good we have been making progress and gaining momentum and need to continue to do the work to get people elected that work for us and not the elite.

Hanscom, Jamus

AUGUSTA

I would like to serve as a delegate because I believe I can serve as an accurate representative of my county. I am active in my community, attending the UCC and volunteering, attending the newly forming broad based organizing conferences. I also participated recently in a two day workshop from the Groundwater Institute focused on being anti-racist and the history of racism in this country. I am a veteran and I am going to attend the Chaplaincy Institute of Maine. I am going to help defeat Susan Collins by helping to pick the best candidate to run against her. I am going to continue to donate money towards whatever candidate the party does pick. I am going to volunteer for phone banks and door knocking to get the information out. I believe that community is the best way to get our message out and to continue to build on our grassroots efforts. I am plugged into my community and I continue to work to build my own personal network.

Disability

Hanson, John R

AUGUSTA

Over the past many years, John as served in several capacities in service to the Democratic party. Early on , he served as chair of the Hampden Democratic party. After that, he served on the Orono committee, and became chair there. After still more years he was elected chair of the Penobscot county committee. Over this time he worked on many Dems campaigns.

Harnett, Thomas A

GARDINER

Our nation is at a crossroads. I realize that might sound trite, but for me it is not. I type this a day after seeing Joan Sebastian Guerrero killed in front of his wife and three-year-old daughter in our state by federal officers funded by Susan Collins. We need a change. We need a new Senator. In this moment, failure to change is an abdication of our responsibility as members of a decent society. Throughout my life whenever I have been faced with questions about how to act, I ask is it right, is it just, is it moral. If the answer to any of those questions is no, the choice is clear. I have asked those questions in my personal and political life as a six-year mayor of Gardiner and a four-year member of the Maine Legislature. As mayor, I met too many people choosing to fill a prescription, a shopping cart, or an oil tank, while trying to pay their property tax. As a lawyer and legislator I fought for basic labor law rights too long denied to farmworkers, the people who feed us. As director of the Civil Rights Team Project I fought to make sure all students felt safe, welcome, and valued in our schools. If chosen to be a delegate, I will advance those values and give voice to the over 156,000 Mainers who came together demanding change while recognizing that some of their complaints fell on our party. We must do better.

Harris, David

WATERVILLE

I love the democratic process and what it represents. I have been a registered Democrat since November is 1971. I was a delegate to the 1980 State convention. I also have been a poll worker since the 2020 presidential election. I am very interested in the upcoming convention to help choose a candidate to run against Susan Collins. Thank you for your consideration.

Harwath, Luciana

CHINA

Maine deserves better. The people of this country deserve better. The people in my community deserve better. Despite the present unfortunate situation, to say the least, the people of this state voted overwhelmingly for real change, and for a senator who they had hoped would represent the material interests of the people. It's not enough to simply win, but to fight for actual change, because this election is far too important. What is winning if the values and needs of the people are compromised into obscurity? Too many people are hurting in our communities. We need a senator who can fight to fix what has been broken. As a marginalized citizen who is deeply affected by all that is happening around us, and who has connection to the wider community, I am already keenly aware of the realities, and as a delegate I will continue listen to the needs of the people. I will continue to reach out, as I already do, and to listen and discuss how people are hurting, and to what needs changed. In order to overcome the forces that are oppressing the people, we must listen to the people and act in their interests. To overcome, and moreover to succeed during the term of office, the party needs a senator who will do these things, and in order to elect that senator, we need delegates who recognize and support these values through this process, and that is the delegate I will be.

LGBTQIA+, Disability, Underrepresented Religion

Hawkins, Michael

GARDINER

The Democratic Party must put forth a lifelong Democrat with the stellar communication skills necessary to defeat Susan Collins. I will help nominate a Democrat to promote Democratic policies, ideals, and ethos.

Healy, Jason P

BELGRADE

I'm a lifelong Democrat born in Augusta and raised in Belgrade by a hard-working blue-collar family. I've volunteered for and donated to political campaigns in the past, but never requested to serve as a delegate for the Maine Democratic Party before today. I am committed to actively supporting whoever is chosen as the nominee at our convention. Equally important, I feel, is volunteering to serve as an active and thoughtful participant in the evaluation and selection of a replacement nominee. My ability to serve in this role is founded upon my years of training and experience as an attorney, my belief in fairness and equality, and my commitment to democracy and the rule of law. The stakes for our state and our nation are high. Making the right choice is crucial to defeating Senator Collins and standing up against Donald Trump's attempts to deny and dismantle our rights. Showing every voter that the delegates chosen will be everyday Democrats like myself--people who are not party insiders, people who come from all walks of life--is essential to demonstrating that the process is open and fair. It gives voters faith against the cynicism or fear that our leaders aren't listening to us. Because losing faith that your leaders are listening and care is what creates the opportunity for demagogues to gather attention and false promises, all just so they can gain as much power as possible and use it for themselves.

Heath, Travis J

FARMINGDALE

You may know me as TJ (they/them). Government has a duty to all people within their charge to secure and respect their rights and guarantee a standard of living, it belongs to us, but greed corrupts politics, and greed has turned a blind eye to genocide while selling weapons. My politics drives me to support community building and solidarity, especially among the LGBTQIA community and climate community. I am running for delegate to join Democrats in chipping away at the power structure of greed oppressing working people and polluting the environment, and I know social justice and climate justice are the same campaign. The Democratic Party needs to be a party of the working class, helping working class people secure the resources we need to be free, to have the leverage of choose if an employer is abusive or unethical. Many voters see Democrats as a party that is more tolerant and accepts science, but is unwilling to empower working people as billionaires take more power over people. I joined this party in 2015 to empower people against the billionaires, and one in particular who ran for President then, and if you send me to Bangor my vote there will be against billionaires and for our liberation.

LGBTQIA+

Helm, Peyton R

BELGRADE

It is important that Democrats unite behind the selected candidate with enthusiasm and commitment. We cannot afford internal division or distrust. Although Graham Platner's personal history may have made him unelectable, a large majority of Maine Democrats were enthusiastic about his policy positions, his energy, his candor, and his passion for defeating Susan Collins for all the right reasons. I believe we need to assess the candidates who are willing to serve and who embody and communicate these values.

Hendrix, David

READFIELD

I hate the corrupt bobble headed bitch. Her corruption know no depth. It's not drain the swamp anymore, it's drain the sewer!!!!!! She's so concerned about Maine that she's voted 98 percent of the time to kill health care for the needy, 98 percent of the time to engage out troops to a corrupt policy lead by a corrupt president. I think she needs to be concerned where her next job will be when she's kicked to the curb like she should be! I'm old, I'm cranky, I'm totally disgusted with the policymakers that pretend to care while they pad their pockets with American blood. I hate the bobble headed bitch!!!

Herzfeld, Jonathan

WAYNE

I am eager to find a candidate who is thoroughly vetted and will aggressively attack Susan Collins, whose votes have caused grievous harm to Maine and especially Maine women. She voted for RFK Jr, Brett Kavanaugh and I am sure we can find more. Mild debates will not win the cause. We need rapid response to Republican lies. Why me? I am level headed. I am practical. I have a mathematical background and can analyze cross tabs. I have been a Democrat all my life. The last Republican I voted for was Jacob Javits. My only goal in this process is to find the candidate most likely to win.

Hickey, Jacob

WATERVILLE

I want to serve as a delegate to ensure a candidate is selected who will represent working class Mainers. I plan to talk to voters and assist with rallies any way I can. The progressive movement is bigger than any one person and needs to continue to help repair our government and make it represent the people and not corporations.

Hickman, Craig Von

WINTHROP

I believe this historic process must include the most diverse set of voices in our Party. As the longest-serving Black lawmaker in Maine's history, I've authored first-in-the-nation legislation, including the Maine Food Sovereignty Act and the Constitutional Right to Food Amendment. I bring a duty to public service, a passion for human rights, and sound judgement to the table. To win this seat, we must nominate the right candidate for these uncertain times and clarify exactly what we stand for. We'll attract more people to this movement with a commitment to see our neighbor in all people and govern in a new way, politics as usual be damned. I'll do my part to further promote these values, just as I've done every election cycle since 2008 when I first ran and won credentials to become a Barack Obama Delegate at the Democratic National Convention in Denver; when the voters sent me to Augusta for the first time in 2012 with nearly 60% of their votes in a rural district; when I delivered the Roll Call vote for Maine from my farm during the 2020 virtual DNC in my native city of Milwaukee; and when I won the 2009 Special Election for Senate District 14 to become the first Black lawmaker in Maine's history to serve in both the Maine House of Representatives and the Maine Senate. I'd be most humbled to have your vote for Delegate to represent Kennebec County at our Nominating Convention for the United States Senate.

BIPOC, LGBTQIA+

Hill, George

GARDINER

I am supporting Troy Jackson for senate because he is the only candidate who truly understands the struggles of working class people in Maine. I am in my early 30s and work as a stone mason. I just bought a home and I am hoping to start a family with my fiancée here in Maine. Over the past 10 years, I have watched the Democrat party drift away from the issues that affect working peoples day to day lives, like health care and cost of living. Troy is the best choice for senate because he has lived the life of a person who earns their living by working with their hands. It's time that we have a representative that stands up for people like us and not the billionaires and corporate interests that control or current political system.

Hinckley, Dorothy

PITTSTON

I would like to become a delegate to help find someone that can defeat Senator Collins. I used to be a fan of Senator Collins because she supported women in nontraditional roles. I feel now she does anything that President Trump wants her to do. I don't think she wants to rock the boat because she wants to have one more term and then retire. She is voting the way the Republican Party votes, not the way that Maine people want her to vote. I also think she is out of touch with the working class because her term has been so long. She voted to confirm Robert F. Kennedy Jr. as health and human services secretary. He had no background in this, and I feel she voted for him just to stay with the Republican Party Collins voted for the passing of the Republicans' ridiculous budget bill that will have devastating impacts on Maine. I am looking for a candidate that has real Maine values. The candidate has to be a strong leader to stand up to the Republican pressures.

Hinkley, Garry R

MANCHESTER

I have been a loyal Democrat for almost 50 years. I have been active at the local, county, and state level. Municipal chair, secretary, credentials committee from two counties, campaign worker and manager. Caucus convenor.

Holloway, Christopher

GARDINER

As a therapist working daily with Mainers living in poverty, I am interested in becoming a delegate to ensure our Senate nomination process is transparent, democratic, and truly reflects the will of the voters. In these unusual times, we cannot afford a process that appears compromised by backroom deals. We need real, working Mainers to select a candidate who understands the economic struggles of our neighbors. To defeat Susan Collins, we must prove we are the party of working people.

Hopkins, Joyce

WINTHROP

I plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as our nominee. I am running to be a delegate to ensure we nominate a candidate that can actually win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. I am excited for the opportunity to participate in this democratic process and will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously.

Horkan, Dylan James

AUGUSTA

I attended the convention the main Democratic Party had back in May. Right now I'm working for the SDCC to help insure down ballot candidates win the state. It's important to not just defeat Susan Collins this November but to increase the Democratic majority in the state as a whole.

Hoskins, Monty W

WINTHROP

Time to act.

Howe, Georgia

HALLOWELL

As a delegate, I want to ensure the voices, concerns, and ideas of my fellow young Mainers are heard in this unique and important moment in our party's history. For Maine to continue being the place young people want to call home, we must elect officials who we are proud of, and who act from our shared love for our state's peoples and land. I have practiced community engagement throughout my career and personal life, and believe collaboration is the at the heart of movement building. Conversations about shared values, rather than shared hate, is key to the continued success of this moment and galvanizing our voters in the following election.

LGBTQIA+, Youth

Huard, Gail Elizabeth

OAKLAND

Mainers need to strip Sen Collins of power. She has no apologies for her votes for conservative Supreme Court Justices resulting in the demise of roe vs wade and the untold suffering of women across the nation. No apologies for signing on to restrict voting rights nor for her influence on Trump's Big Beautiful Bill affecting health care in Maine. No apologies for accepting donations from 100 billionaires living out of state. Personally, I find Collins to be an opportunist,a fence-sitter deciding which direction to lean into to keep the power she so badly needs to stay relevant.

Hudzina, Marilyn

HALLOWELL

As a democrat who voted for Janet Mills, I consider a public record to be an important qualification for our nominee. Yet the people of Maine have spoken overwhelmingly for their desire to have a progressive candidate, and I believe that we MUST follow the will of the voters. Thus, I support Shenna Bellows, who has a progressive track record and has shown years of commitment to Maine.

Humphrey, Shonna L

HALLOWELL

I would like to serve as a delegate because as a native of Aroostook County and former resident of Cumberland County, I work in Androscoggin County and have made Kennebec County my home for more than eight years. I can offer a perspective from lived experience in many corners of Maine, I have some time to volunteer, and I bring energy and a level of pragmatism to the process. Susan Collins is not a monster, and dehumanizing public servants is not my style. I have never doubted her commitment to Maine's economic interests, but after 30 years and a marked failure to establish any sort of coalition to counter this administration's assault, it is time for a different perspective. I am a professional writer in a longtime marriage to a professional musician, and I am happy to apply my skills in ways that are useful. I do not consider myself especially political, but most Mainers would likely describe themselves in a similar manner. I am a good neighbor, carry myself with integrity, vote in every election, and I care deeply about Maine's future. If there is room for me at the delegate table to choose the next party nominee, I would be happy to participate.

Hussiere, Sheldon

AUGUSTA

I would like to serve as a delegate because it's an extension of my current fight against both Susan Collins and Donald Trump. I currently make videos and animations that reflect negatively on the Republican Party, Susan Collins, and Donald Trump. I also testify and lobby for Maine Family Planning because health care and reproductive choice are essential to our society. I'm active in both my local and county committees and will continue to be for many years to come. Thank you.

LGBTQIA+, Disability

Johnson, David Carlton Jr

WATERVILLE

As a lifelong Mainer born and raised in this state, who has proudly raised my three children right here in Waterville, I am deeply committed to the future of our community. I am seeking to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention with complete impartiality, bringing no bias for or against any candidate, but with a singular, unyielding focus: defeating Susan Collins this November. This fight is intensely personal. Ever since Susan Collins cast her vote to confirm Brett Kavanaugh, I have deliberately and unceasingly fought to protect the fundamental rights of my wife and my two daughters. Our families deserve a U.S. Senator who champions their rights, not one who compromises them. As the Chair of the Waterville Planning Board and the Secretary of the Waterville Democrats, I understand what it takes to organize effectively, respect the process, and lead with structural integrity. To defeat Collins, we must immediately translate the convention's energy into structured, localized action. I plan to leverage my municipal and party experience to unite our grassroots base the moment a nominee is selected. By scaling up our local voter registration drives, organizing targeted neighborhood canvasses, and providing clear, actionable roles for our volunteers, I will help our party sustain and build upon its massive grassroots momentum. Together, we will channel our shared urgency into a formidable, unified ground game that delivers Maine the leadership it truly deserves.

Joinson, Brian

CHINA

I want to participate in the delegate process because I am an adamant supporter of Graham's message and stated goals. I will not let establishment Democrats repeat the same process as when they stole the nomination from Bernie Sanders. I will represent the true values of the people who came out in support of Graham. I will also represent the people of the disabled community as I am a member myself. I will not support the same old thing in regards to how the current Democratic party is doing things. I will not support big money or lobbyist interference whatsoever. NO PAY FOR PLAY! I represent the future of this party or it's completely collapse under the weight of its own arrogance and inaction. We will create our own world by making sure our voice is the loudest in the room. I wholeheartedly can proclaim that our vision of the future is a shining example of democracy and socialism working to uplift all of the people in our great country.

Disability

Kahn, Whitney Suzanne

WINTHROP

I am asking to serve as a delegate because I have spent this past year and a half doing the work this moment demands, and I fully intend to keep going. Last fall, I canvassed across our area to help defeat the proposed restrictions on mail-in and absentee voting. I dedicated time and expertise to build websites for Maine Resists and the Buddhist Coalition for Democracy, because grassroots energy needs infrastructure to become power. And I have helped spark and sustain a local fight that is currently stalling an anti-transgender policy and protecting all kids in our district, one meeting, one record, one neighbor at a time. I come to this convention determined to vote for the candidate who will stand alongside working people, stand against monied influence in politics, and make government work for all of us. I believe we need someone who can carry forward the movement sweeping our state and the nation, a movement of working people, building coalitions, fighting corruption, and standing up for equity, justice, and rights for all. I will carry this conviction through every round of the vote. I do not intend to stop after the convention. I will keep organizing and advocating well beyond November, and I will stay accountable to the neighbors who sent me. I am not looking for a title. I am looking to be useful. I would be honored to carry your voice into that room.

Katz, Roberta N

AUGUSTA

I have been following this race from the beginning and feel the importance of defeating Susan Collins, who I know personally and have nothing but disdain for how she has sold out to Mr. Trump. I have long been involved in politics being formerly married to a Maine State Senator. I am now a devout Democrat and have a great deal of skin in the game as a Mainer of 49 years, a senior with concerns about all seniors, and as a member of a threatened minority. I am Jewish and fear for the future of my children and grandchildren. I am willing to give strong support to whomever is chosen to beat Susan.

Underrepresented Religion

Keaten, Steven Ryan

CHINA

I have in my lifetime knocked on thousands of doors and made thousands of phone calls to help get Democrats elected to public office. I have done so through the Maine State Service Employees Association and the Maine AFL-CIO. I did so in this latest primary season and will be in this general election.

Keefe, Thomas

AUGUSTA

I would like to serve as a delegate to help identify and select the strongest possible candidate to defeat Susan Collins, and then continue that work of defeating Collins through my time, energy, and financial support of Senate candidate as well as all Democrats.

Kennedy, Barbara Joyce

CHELSEA

I want to make sure we defeat Susan Collins and represent the grass root momentum.

Kinney, Carolyn

BELGRADE

Helping to enact meaningful change in my community is of the utmost importance to me. One issue in particular that I am extremely passionate about is civic engagement and expanding voter equity. I have helped lead efforts to defeat the Voter ID for ME campaign and other disenfranchisement movements. Susan Collins, on the other hand, has consistently championed policies against such fundamental principles of our Democracy, and will continue to do so if left undefeated. My commitment to democracy and Mainers can be seen in my advocacy for the Democratic Party. Over the past three years, I've been an active member of the Franklin County Democrats, canvassing to elect Democrats up and down the ballot and serving as one of Kamala's Captains in 2024. Most recently, I served as a delegate for Franklin County at the State Convention in May and interned with Matt Dunlap for Congress this past semester. After graduating from UMF in May, I am back in Belgrade and ready to take action. Serving as a delegate to the Nominating Convention means ensuring the voices of young people are heard at a table deciding their future. To defeat Susan Collins, I am prepared to help mobilize individuals across the State, as I did in 2024, registering over 150 people to vote on my campus. The effects that Susan Collins has had on the people of Maine have been felt intergenerationally. To defeat her, we must work together to select a candidate who can unify Mainers.

Lacroix, Bernadette C

OAKLAND

I was born and raised in Maine, the daughter of a farmer, I owned a small business for 31 years and now, I am a concerned grandparent. I am alarmed at what is happening in our country. Because of my upbringing I am acutely aware of the challenges facing Maine farms today. It is increasingly difficult to hire the workers they need to produce and harvest their produce. Paralleling that is my experience owning a small business and trying to afford health insurance for myself and my employees. The high cost of worker's compensation and other insurance needed to run a business is staggering. Lastly, I am terrified by the world my grandchildren will inherit if we continue on this path. The environment is of utmost importance, climate change has got to be addressed. Trump has set us back decades. We need all hands on deck if we are going to turn this around. I have canvassed for the Maine Dems previously and I am willing to help in any way I can. It is imperative that we elect someone that will support Maine families, care for the environment and work to weed out the corruption in our government today.

Lafear, Joanne

WINDSOR

I believe it is very important to defeat Susan Collins as she has voted for and supported Trump's devisive policies that are threatening our democracy. We need a Senate candidate who can run on a platform that will put Maine people first. I want to work for our candidate in any ways that make sure a Democrat wins and that Democrats take back the Senate. My first chance to do this is to serve as a delegate to help decide on the best democratic candidate for Senate.

Lamoreau, Kevin M

AUGUSTA

I would like to serve as delegate as someone who volunteers to be a delegate when people aren't banging down the door to be (state conventions), as a candidate for a down-ticket office (Register of Deeds) who could be impacted by whom we select for the top of the ticket (although if any write-in candidates declare then the U.S. Senate race will have the RCV ballot format and likely be on the other side of the ballot; I'm also detail oriented) and as one of the approximately 28% of Democratic primary voters (approximately 30% in Kennebec County) who did not rank the withdrawn nominee as my first choice, but who recognizes that a majority of my fellow Democratic primary voters did and that our replacement nominee must be able to 'connect' with them (although hopefully they can connect with some of us as well). As for how I'll help defeat Susan Collins and help our party continue to build on our grassroots momentum, as a candidate for office in a swing county with a lot of swing voters, I plan to represent the Democratic Party well, and in the right situations I will put in plugs for other Democratic candidates, including our eventual U.S. Senate nominee. I've already marched in the Hallowell Pride and Augusta 4th of July parades with the local Democratic group and helped with set up and wrap up at the latter, and I will again at the Old Hallowell Day parade on July 18.

Langley, Richard Alan

AUGUSTA

I am a committed Democrat and citizen activist concerned about the erosion of democracy and economic justice in Maine and the nation. I am deeply invested in helping the party choose a winning candidate for the US Senate and would take my delegate responsibilities seriously.

Lapan-Tillson, Allen

AUGUSTA

Good Morning, I feel that I fall into 3 categories that are being looked at in the delegate search process... I am a gay senior (81) retired and uses a walker. TRIFACTA ! It would be ab honor and a privilege to participate in the selection of our next Democratic Senator from Maine.

Larue- Keniston, Linda Mary

READFIELD

I am very interested in keeping the momentum going that was obvious during the primary elections. It is time for a fresh approach to governing that eliminates elections being bought by large corporations and the very wealthy. I have lived in Maine my entire life and I have always fought for and advocated for women, children and gay rights and healthcare for all. I believe we need to step up and fight for this Senate seat with true Maine grit.

Lathrop, Althea

AUGUSTA

I was born in Maine and am a registered Democrat. I supported Janet Mills including putting large posters up for her and attending her inaugural celebrations. I have been very satisfied with her performance as governor and expect to be supporting her for Senator although i am open to a candidate if she does not pursue this.

Lavallee, Cameron

WATERVILLE

I am a nineteen-year-old low-income transgender UMFK student and a lifelong Mainer. I have always loved this state and feel very fortunate for the protections that Maine has provided for me and my fellow Mainers. I believe it is important for young people to be involved in local politics, and I have participated in events held by Indivisible Maine. With Susan Collins as senator, I do not have faith that Maine will be protected and cared for. She does not have the average Mainer's best interest in mind. I speak for me and my same-aged friends when I say that these efforts to defeat Collins (along with similar efforts in the future to keep Maine progressive) is necessary for the continued thriving of Maine, and for the young people who will inherit the legacies of every hard-working Mainer before us. Many people my age are faced with doubt, apathy, and fear. Many don't believe our voices matter, and that the old rich folks will always be in charge, keeping us poor and overworked. I want to help prove that change is possible if we both believe in and work for it. Ultimately, every age group wants the same thing: to live in a state that cares for its people. I would be honored to be a part of that positive movement as a delegate to the Nominating Convention.

LGBTQIA+, Disability, Youth

Lawrence, Margaret

FAYETTE

I know Dr. Shah both personally and professionally. I know his values and concerns to be of the highest moral character and his fights in congress to protect social security, lower drug costs, hold public officials accountable and end ICE, among many other things, will benefit us all. He will put Maine and Mainers first, never himself.

Leach, Jonathan H

AUGUSTA

I would like to be a delegate to help turn this country around and to reestablish pride in America. I would like to help turn the tide against fascism. I am will to help the MDP as needed in this effort.

Leinonen, Kira

CHELSEA

I plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as our nominee. I am running to be a delegate to ensure we nominate a candidate that can actually win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. I am excited for the opportunity to participate in this democratic process and will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously.

Leisner, Roger E

AUGUSTA

I served as a delegate to the 2026 Convention

Disability

Lemieux, Michael C C

OAKLAND

I am politically motivated to help get Susan Collin's retired. I would love to be involved in replacing Mr Platner.

LGBTQIA+

Lenhart, Andrea

WEST GARDINER

I'm the Municipal Chair of the West Gardiner Dems and am deeply engaged at the local level: in community-building events, official town business and elections processes and helping to elect Select and School Board members who embody Democratic values. In a rural town like West Gardiner, influence and persuasion starts with connecting with neighbors, speaking out against local corruption (even when it puts a target on your back), having a spine and knowing when to listen. I don't lead with my party affiliation; I connect with fellow residents by discussing issues, finding common ground and FOR SURE reaching across the isle to tackle local challenges together. And I do that well. I have a unique perspective as a progressive in a fairly red town and understand the complexity of neighbors who've had both Trump and Shenna Bellows signs on their front lawns. I bring that understanding, along with an open mind, when I canvass and attend local town business meetings, which has enabled me to move voters on a number of issues. I think a lot of outsiders tend to write us off, including some of our representatives (many residents still don't know that we were redistricted to CD1 years ago). I believe West Gardiner needs its voice to be heard and I believe I am the right person to represent my neighbors and friends.

Leonard, Elizabeth

WATERVILLE

I have never been a party delegate before but I been active as a local election worker here in Waterville for several years. I have also been active in anti-poverty, pro-women's rights and social justice, pro-democracy community political organizing for much of my long life (I am 69) and am eager to bring that experience--which requires a healthy amount of bridge-building skill--to bear on this challenging process at this challenging time. Finally, I bring with me the perspective of a professional historian, having taught and published several books about US history for over thirty years, focusing on the Civil War and Reconstruction eras and American women's history.

Levesque, Ann Habeeb

CHELSEA

I feel it's important for Canet county to be represented from people of all ages and interest. I was getting pretty dissolution by the Democratic Party until Graham Platner came around. His platform and ideas reminded me of the Democratic Party. I joined at 18. I would like to do everything in my ability to bring that back to what it was. It used to be a party that represented all Mainers.

Levesque, John William

CHELSEA

The reason that I would like to serve as a delegate is that I am an advocate for the rule of law and democracy. In the past 18 months, I have taken active part in the various marches and activities of protest in the Augusta area. As a member of the indivisible movement, I will continue to inform people of current events in their significance. I will instruct people on how to register to vote . In addition, I will engage in small group discussions when appropriate. I will continue to discuss the important topics relative to senator Collins on a factual level so that those I meet with will be informed. I will continue to be a source of information and inspiration to those I encounter. I will provide transportation for people who are canvassing door to door. My overall message is the rule of law and democracy, both of which are at stake.

Levesque, Lucille

AUGUSTA

While I have not been very active in politics in the past, I believe a challenge has been issued for involvement to effect change. I feel it is imperative for all U.S. citizens to step forward and support those issues that they feel need to be represented at the national level. Our senators and representatives are the direct connection we have to the national issues, so who we choose to represent us is critical. Susan Collins has failed us as she has not represented the views of the majority of citizens in this state. We need a candidate that will stand up for what we believe needs to happen; Medicare for all, term limits, taxing the rich, pro-choice, to name a few. This is why I have felt the need to step forward and submit my name for consideration as a delegate for the Nomination Convention.

Levey, Michael J

WINTHROP

I plan to attend the convention because I choose to actively participate in our democracy. I plan to help defeat Susan Collins by supporting the Democratic Nominee: attending public events on our nominee's behalf; making contributions to our nominee, sending emails, volunteering as appropriate for me, to help the nominee's campaign, and placing a sign on my lawn. I am a supporter of ranked choice voting, and especially support the fact that the convention will use it.

Loisel, Michaela

HALLOWELL

As a lifelong Democrat and proud Mainer, it would be my honor to serve as a delegate in this historic election. As our nation's democracy is under threat, all eyes are on Maine. For almost 40 years, I have been an active member of the Augusta Unitarian Universalist Community Church - drawn there because UU values align with Democratic values. When our state voted on marriage rights for gays, we were out front with our unabashed support. As a member of the Maine Unitarian Universalist State Action Network, I have attended legislative hearings, provided written and verbal testimony against anti-LGBTQIA legislation, and for reproductive rights, gun safety, and many other issues. As part of Indivisible Kennebec County, I have been a regular member of the sign brigade protesting the many dangerous actions of the Trump administration. I frequently write to and call Senator Susan Collins to implore her to fight the outrageous Trump actions that are too many to name in a 250 word statement. Senator Collins has been not just a disappointment to me but a danger to Maine, our country, and the world at large. I am disgusted with her weak excuses for her support for Justice Brett Kavanaugh. She has had innumerable opportunities to have a Margaret Chase Smith moment and fails almost 100% of the time. She has made life harder for women and for Mainers and we need to replace her with someone who will speak for all Mainers - especially those who are currently LGBTQIA+

Lowe, Rachael S

WINTHROP

I would like to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention to aid in the efforts to help get a democrat into office and get the “pledged two-term” deceiver Senator Collins out. I want to help get another candidate that wants to fight for what a hardworking Mainer deserves!

Lowell, Daniel

WATERVILLE

I have been a resident of Maine for more than 16 years, and during that time I have seen the impact Susan Collins has had on our democracy. I was a lifelong independent until 2016. Every two years I would temporarily change my voter registration to participate in a primary before switching it back. That election tipped the scales and I no longer felt independent. I know many Democratic voters feel their voices are not being heard. We can either let others decide who will represent our party, or we can step forward and be part of the process. It's not quite as simple or convenient as walking into a voting booth and filling in a little circle this time. I want to help ensure we nominate the strongest possible candidate to defeat Susan Collins in November. As a delegate, I look forward to discussing the candidates with fellow Kennebec County Democrats and carrying their perspectives to the Nominating Convention. After the convention, I plan to stay involved by encouraging voter participation, talking with friends and neighbors about the importance of this election, and volunteering however I can to help our nominee succeed. I would be honored to serve as a delegate and help build on the grassroots energy that will be essential to victory in November.

Lueck, Morgan

CHINA

I grew up in rural Oxford County, Maine, where my family made less than $20,000 a year and relied heavily on social safety nets to survive. I watched my dad drive two hours each way to work the grueling Maine Yankee shutdown, only to face constant layoffs when the contracts ended. Seeking to break that cycle, I joined the Marine Corps and later utilized my GI benefits to earn an MS in Counterterrorism and Homeland Security; giving me a technical and firsthand understanding of the profound human cost of our foreign policy. Our primary voters delivered a historic mandate for change, and we cannot afford to retreat. I am not a bystander in this movement; I helped build it. Having co-authored much of our campaign's foreign policy and national security platform and spent months organizing across Kennebec County, I know exactly what drives our volunteers and voters because I've been doing the work alongside them. I will fiercely protect that mandate by fighting for a nominee committed to a worker-first approach to justice. We need to fully enact Roosevelt's Economic Bill of Rights, establish a trade policy restricted to firms that uphold progressive standards, and implement a foreign policy that halts all funding for shipments of military arms fueling genocides in Gaza, Sudan, and elsewhere, while aggressively reining in the executive branch's war powers authorities. I am deeply committed to a transparent, participatory process to select our best candidate. Send me to the convention to defend our hard-earned wins, and

Disability, Youth

Macdonald, William Dana

WINTHROP

Democrats must win the U.S. Senate seat currently occupied by Susan Collins. She does not serve Maine people. We must have a strong, dedicated, hardworking Democrat candidate who can unify and inspire a diverse and inclusive campaign with maximum participation. I will help implement a great field campaign for our Senate candidate, based on active listening to voters. As a long time volunteer on many Maine Democrat campaigns, and as a candidate myself in Kennebec County, I have knocked on tens of thousands of doors and talked to tens of thousands of voters on the phone. I have volunteered on various campaigns of several of the candidates running to be the Senate candidate from this convention. I grew up in Winthrop, graduated from Winthrop High School and still own the home I grew up in. I also worked on legislative staff and volunteered on campaigns for the first woman Maine Senate President Beverly Daggett, including the 2002 election when Democrats won the Maine Senate by one seat and won the key 18th Senate seat by 2 votes on recount. I know how to include people in a positive campaign and win. I will work emphatically to help the candidate selected by our County process and our Convention unite voters behind the nominee and win the Senate. I will work to carry that momentum forward, sustainably and inclusively. Thank you for your efforts.

Macomber, Donald William

MONMOUTH

I have been a committed Democrat since I turned 18 in 1980 and a Kennebec County Democrat since moving here in 1989. Donald Trump is an existential threat to American democracy and electing a Senator to hold him accountable is critical. Collins has not done that. We need to choose the nominee best able to defeat her!

Madore, Noel Haynes

READFIELD

I am an active democrat looking to heed the call for nominating a winning candidate to fix this nation. I am running for county commissioner to build the democratic brand from the bottom up.

Youth

Main, Seth Sawyer

BELGRADE

My name is Seth Main, and I have lived in Belgrade my entire life. I am 25 years old and recently graduated from the University of Maine School of Law. It would be an honor to represent Kennebec County Democrats as a delegate to the Nominating Convention. Over the last several election cycles, I have volunteered on Democratic campaigns in Kennebec County and beyond because I believe meaningful change starts with people willing to put in the work. In 2022, I knocked on hundreds of doors to support David LaFountain's campaign for the Maine Senate. In 2024, I served as Cassie Julia's deputy campaign manager and now serve as Representative Julia's campaign treasurer. I also participated in GOTV efforts to support Vice President Kamala Harris. Mainers across the state are struggling to make ends meet. As a young Mainer, it is personally disheartening to see attacks on marriage equality, the dream of homeownership slipping out of reach, and crushing student loan debt. As a lawyer, it has been difficult to witness the erosion of the rule of law. We need to win the Senate this November to prevent the appointment of more conservative justices to the Supreme Court. Control of the United States Senate runs directly through Maine. This November, I will do everything in my power to help elect a Democrat to the United States Senate and defeat Susan Collins, while also supporting Democrats up and down the ballot. We must keep the momentum heading into November!

Mairs, Steven

WINTHROP

Hello Everyone, I am a lifelong Democrat and have been a progressive political junkie since the Nixon era. I attended grade school in Lincoln, NB; Jr. High in Lopoc, CA; I graduated from Madawaska HS and later USM. I have traveled to over 50 countries then lived & worked in 18 of them under contract to USAID and as senior staff for the National Democratic Institute. I am VERY interested in participating in this process.

Maloney, Maeghan Tara Leroy

AUGUSTA

My connection to the Democratic Party started when I was just nine years old. My father lost his job, and my family went through a very difficult period. We weren't sure what the future would look like, but a Democratic program—the Tall Pines Low-Income Housing Project in Lewiston—helped give us stability when we needed it most. That experience changed my life. It showed me that government can make a real difference for families who are struggling, and it taught me that compassion and opportunity matter. Ever since then, I've believed in the core Democratic values of making sure everyone has a fair shot. In serving as your district attorney, I have implemented a wide-range of restorative justice programs. From Restorative Circles to Treatment Courts to Diversion, I have seen first-hand that second chances work and people's lives are always worth fighting for. These aren't just political beliefs to me—they come from my own lived experience. As a delegate, I would listen carefully, keep an open mind, and focus on choosing the candidate who can best represent Maine and fight for the progressive values that matter most to our communities. I know what it's like when public policies make a real difference in people's lives, and that perspective is something I would bring to this process. I would be honored to represent Kennebec County Democrats and help shape the future of our party and our state.

Mann, Katharine Kent

HALLOWELL

I was a delegate to the state convention in May. I support the platform of Graham Platner and hope to nominate another candidate who will continue to champion this platform. In any case, it is of paramount importance for the Democratic Party to unify behind one candidate and work together to defeat Susan Collins. I will commit to phone banking and canvassing in support of the new democratic candidate for US Senate. The very fate of our nation is at stake here; we absolutely must regain a majority in both houses of Congress this November and reverse the damage done by Trump and his ilk. Thank you.

Markley, Priscilla

WINTHROP

I am an 83-year-old woman. Platner spoke to what I care about, and he spoke to what many younger people care about. We need health insurance for all. We need to lessen the huge wealth gap. We need to lessen the influence of billionaires. We need younger people to participate in democracy. We are in danger of losing our democratic institutions.

Marquis, Jeanne M

CHINA

Recently retired, I have the energy and the time to devote to reenergizing my region to rebuild democracy. As the secretary for my regional Democratic Committee, I have already started a postcard recruitment campaign to build back membership. Many rural Democrats got discouraged after our last presidential lost and have pulled back, especially when we are surrounded by very vocal red hats. That's what I am doing on the very local level. As far as working to defeat Susan Collins, I have canvassed against her on the last campaign and was very disappointed when she won again to be the deciding vote to appoint Kavanaugh who eventually overturned Roe. More recently, I canvassed for the Platner campaign. Yes, I was disappointed when we found more about him background. However, I believe the momentum he captured is bigger than one person and can continue with the right candidate if we unite as a cohesive party. I am excited about the future of the Democratic Party and am encouraged by its recent evolution as a more people-centric, more inclusive vehicle of change.

Marquis, Megan M

AUGUSTA

I plan to choose the candidate that has the best chance at defeating Susan Collins and share political news in my network while encouraging the people I meet along the way to run for local office.

Mcfarland, Conner

WINTHROP

I want to be part of a democratic process to select our Party's nominee who will represent the interests of our diverse communities. I will help to defeat Susan Collins by advocating strongly for any candidate who believes in crafting policies that support human rights, will secure our fair and free elections, and who has a strong campaign that can defeat a strong political establishment.

LGBTQIA+, Youth

Mcgowan, Patrick K

FAYETTE

I have been a democrat since 1973 I attended my first convention at 14 years of age. Susan Collins needs to be replaced to save our country from Trump's attack against democracy from him assisted by her, Collins.

Mckenzie, William

AUGUSTA

I am currently a member of the Augusta Democratic City Committee and the Kennebec County Democratic Committee. I have served as a delegate to several state conventions beginning with the first Obama campaign. I have volunteered in a number of local and congressional campaigns over the years. I believe that we are at a point existential crisis for our democracy and must gain control of both the House and Senate to stop the march toward fascism under the Trump regime. Our task is hold on the Democrats who have supported Graham Platner and bring aboard the unenrolled voters who may have become disenchanted with the political process by demonstrating our enthusiasm, dedication, and commitment to preserving our democracy.

Mckinnon, Maryanne Scally

AUGUSTA

As a resident of Augusta, Maine, I am seeking to serve as a delegate to ensure that our community is strongly represented at the state level. As a lifelong Democrat, I am committed to our shared values of economic justice, universal healthcare, tax fairness, retirement security, peace and environmental protection. As a member of the Maine Education Association - Retired and a long -time member of the Portland Education Association, where I served in various roles including chief negotiator and one time president, I am fully committed to a politics that uplifts Maine's working-class families in an inclusive and democratic society.

Mclinn, D Katherine

GARDINER

I plan to support Dr. Shah as our nominee to run for the Senate. I believe Dr Shah has the temperament, intelligence, integrity and communication skills necessary for him to be an outstanding candidate.

Mcneil, Pearl

AUGUSTA

I want to become a delegate because I believe Maine deserves representatives who understand the everyday experiences and challenges that ordinary people face. I have been involved in Democratic politics and civic engagement for 30 years because I believe that when people get involved, they can make a real difference. In Maine, I have volunteered on many campaigns to help uphold the values of the Democratic Party. Some examples are: 2005 No on 1 to reject discrimination, rejecting TABOR in 2006 and 2009, getting marriage equality approved, and as a cabinet member on Senator Justin Alford's campaigns for office. I was also part of the team that helped introduce IRV in Portland's 2011 mayoral election. For over 7 years I was an active member of the League of Young Voters, whose mission was to get young people passionate about politics and increase voter turnout. These experiences are important to me because they have helped shape who I am today. They have taught me the importance of standing up for what I believe in, listening to others, and bringing people together around difficult issues. Today, these values are more important than ever. I want to represent Maine as someone who has been through the paces of everyday life and understands the concerns of working families, marginalized communities and those whose voices are too often overlooked. I believe every voice deserves to be heard, and I would be honored to bring that perspective as a delegate and help strengthen our Democratic Party.

Mcneill, Gary D

MANCHESTER

I am 73 yo, 45 years in Maine and have been writing to Collins for years. She just doesn't change. I know that we NEED a Democrat in this Senate seat who will vote for the people of Maine.

Disability

Mihalovits, Kyla

WINSLOW

I would like to serve as a delegate to represent the voters in my community on the decision making process to replace our Senate candidate. As a delegate, I would not be making any decisions on my own, but after listening to the voices of stakeholders and the people in my community. I've been involved as a volunteer coordinator for the Platner campaign in the Waterville area while committing to work on 2 other campaigns down ballot. I am an existing member of the Kennebec County Committee, served on the Platform Committee, and served as a delegate to the ME Dems Convention this year. I'm a progressive Democrat who is committed to working toward healthcare, housing, a quality education, and food for everyone. I will continue to show up for my community and candidates that do the same. I will always put in the work for a candidate that is willing to do the work for us.

Miller, Geoffrey B

MONMOUTH

I grew up in Maine, went away for a period after college and came back to continue to do public service via working in public higher education and for the State of Maine (22 + years) until retiring in 2024. I have served on multiple board of Directors for nonprofits in Maine and continue to value public service. I would like to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because I believe that it is important that the movement that was created by the Platner campaign continues and that the candidate that Maine chooses through this new process of a democratic convention with 600 delegates (via the Maine Democratic Party) needs to have a candidate that will continue this progressive movement and political platform forward (getting PAC funding out of politics, health care for all, ending endless wars, focus on working families, etc.) that Mainer's has overwhelmingly voted for. I plan to help defeat Susan Collins in November by continuing to share information with community members regarding this platform by sharing official factual information so that they may make informed decisions at the voting booth. I will further help our party continue to build on the grassroots momentum by continuing to support the candidacy of local democrat candidates by volunteering my time, i.e. driving, district meetings, and canvassing, for the local and congressional candidates as possible.

LGBTQIA+

Milliken, Maureen

BELGRADE

I am an active member of the Kennebec Dems (secretary), and am a strong believer in considering candidates as individuals, not as labels (e.g. "progressive" etc.). I respect the hard work many of our established leaders have done for Maine and I look forward to helping choose our next U.S. Senator. I believe beating Collins takes a grassroots effort - talking to voters where they live and being involved in the party. I plan to help with driving, door knocking, postcards - whatever it takes. Of course I also plan to continue to work hard for Kennebec Dems.

Minzy, Scott

PITTSTON

I spent many years as a registered Republican, but my views changed slowly over time. The biggest influence on that change was becoming a teacher in a small rural Maine community. I saw a side of life I had not fully understood before. I saw students who struggled to get basic medical and dental care, children who relied on school meals, and families working hard while facing challenges that were bigger than any one person could solve. January 6 brought many of those concerns into focus and made me realize that protecting our democracy had to come before party loyalty. I want to serve as a delegate because I no longer want to just watch from the sidelines. I want to be part of the process of choosing candidates who represent working people and who can win elections. I am concerned about Susan Collins' decisions on issues ranging from Supreme Court nominations to her support of Donald Trump. I want to help elect leaders who will put the interests of everyday Mainers first. Because of my role as a teacher, I need to be thoughtful about how I participate publicly, but I am committed to helping in ways I can, including supporting voter outreach and grassroots efforts. I believe in a Democratic Party that protects voting rights, supports public education, listens to rural communities, and makes sure government works for ordinary people

Mitchell, Daniel Luce

SIDNEY

Applying again here. I believe our political leaders must root themselves in practical, basic issues and values, but also have expansive, enquisitive minds. Our society is best when MORE people have realistic opportunities for socio-ecenomic advancement.

Mitchell, Sharon L

HALLOWELL

I want to defeat Susan Collins in November. I believe Shah can defeat her & be an honest, principled, Senator for all Mainers.

Moone, Trevor Scott

AUGUSTA

I would like to serve as a delegate to the nominating convention to push and vote for candidates with a record of serving Maine well, who would support Medicare for All, elevating taxes on the wealthy to support social programs, while regulating the dangerous excesses of unchecked corporate power.

Moore, Jason

AUGUSTA

Although I've lived in Maine for less than a year this is my home now and I am invested in my local, state, and national representation. I was initially unfamiliar with the candidates I spent a fair amount of time researching the candidates in the gubernatorial and senate primaries so I would be able to make an informed choice at primary. Based on the work I've done I feel that I would attend the convention as a well-informed delegate. Even though I'm not a native of the state I do not plan on leaving my adopted home and I want to make sure that we select a candidate that is best able to serve Maine and defeat Susan Collins, a senator so notorious I was already familiar with how poorly she's served both Maine and our nation.

Moreau, Marcel

VASSALBORO

Make sure Troy Jackson is nominated!

Morin, Diane G

AUGUSTA

My name is Diane Gregg Morin and I support Troy Jackson. I live in Augusta. I am married to Donald, a Vietnam war veteran. We have been married for 54 years. We have two grown married sons and five grandchildren. I was a business owner and a self-employed hairdresser in Augusta for twenty-five years. At age 60, I had the opportunity to use Donald's military benefits and started a new journey. I attended the University of Maine in Augusta part-time for eight years and earned a bachelors degree in Liberal Studies with a minor in French language and culture. I am a proud lifelong Mainer, as well as, a lifelong Democrat. I believe in Maine's working class people and building solidarity within local our communities. The fact that I have granddaughters, a disabled husband, and was self-employed our reasons why I would like to serve as a delegate to help defeat Susan Collins. I believe in Medicare for All, a woman's right to choose her own health care, a strong educational system. I listen to people when they speak of their struggles and I speak with a positive attitude. In the past, I have represented Augusta as a delegate to our state conventions. I was also campaign treasurer for State Senate district 15 candidate Penny Plourde. I have driven candidates and I have placed campaign signs around Augusta, Sidney and Oakland. To help build a strong democratic community, I recently hosted a campaign gathering for Troy Jackson.

Morin, Valerie

AUGUSTA

I was one of the lucky ones. Born the second oldest of ten children, I attended parochial and public schools in Augusta Maine. Throughout my life, others believed in me and encouraged me to pursue opportunities I never imagined possible. In grammar school, we learned to pick up after ourselves, be kind, think of others and respect our elders. In high school I was elected to Student Council, served as Secretary of the State Student Council, and was chosen by the faculty at Cony Cony High School to attend Girls State. These experiences sparked my interest in public service, bringing people together, and finding solutions to improve lives. With encouragement from my teachers, I attended Farmington State Teachers College, and earned a degree in Child Development. After teaching for several years, I wanted to understand why some students were more resilient than others. I earned a Master of Science degree in Education, worked as a Guidance Counselor before joining Child Protective Services. I later became an Employee Assistance Counselor and eventually a Licensed Clinical Professional Counselor in private practice. Each role deepened my understanding of individuals, families and communities. I believe my lifelong commitment to serving others, collaborative ability, and persistence, would make me an effective delegate and I will enthusiastically support the nominee by volunteering, talking with voters, collecting signatures, helping with mailings, and encouraging involvement. I will continue supporting the Democratic Party through volunteering, financial contributions and building a strong grassroots movement for Maine's future.

Norton, Sean

PITTSTON

It is time to speak out. It is time to stand up. Our republic is in danger and Susan Collins is not going to save it. We need to elect a delegate who will fight against tyranny and hold true to a meaningful conscience and not just a party line.

O'donnell, Jaclyn Marie

GARDINER

As a nurse, a mom, and a proud Mainer, I am running to be a delegate because our kids and citizens deserve better. Every day, I use common sense to solve problems under pressure and care for people at their most vulnerable. As a mother, I know the kitchen-table pressures Maine families face. I see firsthand how broken political promises impact our communities, and I am ready to fight for the future our families deserve. To defeat Susan Collins in November, I will use my trusted voice to connect directly with independent and undecided voters. I will organize neighborhood canvasses, lead phone banks, and expose the real-world harm of her voting record. By contrasting her record on healthcare, reproductive rights, and corporate tax breaks with our candidate's vision, I will show voters why Maine needs a leader who puts working families first. To build our party's grassroots momentum, I will make our movement personal and accessible. I will recruit and mentor new volunteers—especially parents and frontline workers—ensuring our campaign reaches every corner of our state. Grassroots energy thrives when people see their real-world struggles reflected in the fight. As your delegate, I will channel our collective energy into a sophisticated, common-sense campaign that wins in November and builds a brighter, lasting foundation for Maine's future.

O'donnell, Joseph M

MONMOUTH

It is vital that a Democrat be elected from Maine. This race may determine which party controls the Senate and approves federal judges. I will work for the nominee in any capacity that the campaign needs.

O'hara, Frank

HALLOWELL

I support Shenna Bellows for Senator, and wish to advocate for her at the convention. But I also like other candidates, and if it is not to be Shenna, I would like to be involved in the decision-making. I will help Democratic candidates this fall on every level, including policy writing and going door-to-door and fundraising as I have in the past.

O'keefe, Brendan

WATERVILLE

The son of an immigrant and Presque Isle native, Brendan O'Keefe is an immigration lawyer in Waterville and a lifelong Democrat. He has spent the years since 2024 fighting to get our arrested neighbors out of ICE prisons. At a nominating convention, Brendan will listen to each nominee and vote for a nominee who can broaden the Democratic vote to include non-Democrats. In the general election, we can attract non-Democrats who are angry about ICE, about the Iran war, about the Supreme Court, about the wild, blatant corruption in the current administration and the disregard for costs these bring to Americans. Brendan will vote for a nominee who will honor the will of the primary voters who have said they want a Senator who will not be quiet or tentative. Over these past couple years the ICE arrests and deaths have forced new community groups to form and pushed Mainers (including me) to go outside my normal circles to make new connections with my neighbors. These groups include Democrats, independents and Republicans and have been fighting against what they see happening every day. Brendan will work with these groups of Democrats and non-Democrats to continue expanding support for our party's nominee. He will help pick a nominee who can win in November.

Offer, David

HALLOWELL

I am the retired executive editor of The Kennebec Journal and the Morning Sentinel. As a journalist, I have been an observer, not a participant, in the politics of Maine for more than 25 years. Observing without acting is no longer possible. I will eagerly do what I can to help elect a Democrat to the Senate. I bring energy and commitment to the campaign and welcome the opportunity to serve as a delegate to select a candidate who will stand up to Trump and serve Maine and the country with honor.

Oliver, Joseph

BELGRADE

My name is Joseph Oliver. I am a father, a Finance Director with 6 years of experience in non-profit accounting, and a resident of Kennebec County nearly my whole life. The appropriate criteria for a delegate at this convention is unclear to me, and as such I will simply present myself candidly. I wish to be a delegate because I believe in the need and goal with all my heart. We must carefully choose a candidate who can unify the state and deliver a Democrat to the senate. Choosing a candidate who constitutes a true heir to the momentum and belief that existed in the Platner campaign is crucial to our success in this race. Moreover, conducting a process that the community can trust, and helping disenfranchised voters feel heard, will have ramifications on the Maine Democratic Party long after this election. While this convention is a step unique in both its nature and its impact, it is only the beginning of a three-month scramble to defeat Susan Collins. I am committed to playing my part in this race, whatever that may be, which just might be the key to the future of our values, our platform, and our vision for the country. Above all else, the Democratic Party must be results oriented and must succeed in this race. I wish to do all I can to take responsibility over making that outcome a reality.

Youth

Parent, Alexander

OAKLAND

I want to ensure we nominate a candidate for Senate via a process that is maximally democratic and respects the will of the voters. Given the highly unusual circumstances, Democrats cannot afford a situation that appears compromised by backroom deals or excessive party influence. I appreciate everything that party leadership has done so far to facilitate as smooth and transparent a process as possible.

Pariser, Emanuel P

WATERVILLE

I would like to elect a candidate who represents progressive value and can beat Susan Collins.

Paty, Jennifer Lynn

AUGUSTA

I am running to serve as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because I believe Susan Collins must be defeated in November. I first lobbied Senator Collins to repeal “Don’t Ask, Don’t Tell,” pass the Matthew Shepard hate crimes legislation, and repeal DOMA in support of marriage equality. In my experience, she never fully stood with the LGBTQ+ community until there was already a majority. She has been very good at appearing to be an ally, but I do not believe she has earned that title. I know her record, and I know her political tricks. I have canvassed for her defeat since 2014, and I am ready to do the work again. As a 20-year U.S. Navy veteran, I took an oath to protect and defend the Constitution, I remain steadfast in that oath. Senator Collins has failed her oath to defend our Constitution and no longer faithfully discharged her duties. It is time for her to go home. To help defeat Susan Collins, I will knock doors, make calls, talk with voters, support our nominee, and help organize veterans, LGBTQ+ Mainers, and working families. I will work to build on our grassroots momentum by showing up, listening, and making sure voters know what is at stake. I will serve again as Canvas Captain in Kennebec County I stand ready to Serve

LGBTQIA+

Paxton, Jane P

HALLOWELL

I believe that as flawed as he is, Platner helped light a progressive fire here in Maine. We need to choose an articulate, charismatic, energetic candidate to take on Collins. Someone who is in sharp contrast to her wishywashy, naive, Trump-following ways. I will donate and will hold a house party. I live in a liberal, senior community which should provide money, volunteers and votes.

Pdrr, Ana

SIDNEY

I am running to be a delegate to ensure we nominate a candidate that can actually win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. I am excited for the opportunity to participate in this democratic process and will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously.

Peale, Robert Newton

READFIELD

If I am elected as a delegate, I realize that we will be making one of the most consequential election decisions of our voting lives. A major reason for this is that the delegates to the mini convention will be taking on a responsibility that really belongs to all qualified voters in the state of Maine. There are multiple qualified candidates for us to choose from who generally support progressive policies. However, our primary decision-making criteria should be selecting the candidate who has the best chance of beating Susan Collins. Defeating her must be our sole objective and take precedence over our loyalty to any individual candidate we have supported up to now. Regardless of who we select, I plan to do door-to-door campaigning as I have done in recent elections and expect to do in the future. We must continue the movement that Graham Platner has energized.

Pelletier, Heather Lynn

WATERVILLE

I am a lifelong Democratic voter and resident of Maine for the last 31 years. Given that this is the only process available for selecting the new candidate, I want to take part to affirm the process and support our state and party in moving forward successfully in this election. While I honestly was not happy with this process or the calls for Platner to resign, I see now it was necessary and seek to be part of uniting Democrats.

Perry, Reginald

CLINTON

I am a life long registered Democrat who resides in Clinton . I am a retired business owner who has a genuine interest in choosing the best person to unseat Susan Collins in November. I support the values of Medicare for all, the right to choose, populist economics, free and fair elections, safeguarding our democracy and birthright citizenship. I consider myself to be reasonably intelligent and a good judge of character and integrity. I confirm that I would attend the Nomination Convention in Bangor on July 25th.

Disability

Petersen, Theresa

FAYETTE

I feel transparency is most important. I would love to be part of an unprecedented process to resolve a situation first time in Maines history. My vote in the future is what matters to our party. Always!

Petron, Richard

BENTON

I would like to serve as a delegate to advance the interests of working people in our state, representing my community, and helping to build a stronger democratic party in Maine. I will work with the party to organize and recruit volunteers, and fundraisers both to defeat Susan Collins.

Pettit, Jane

WATERVILLE

I want to be a delegate to fan the small spark of hope that has been lit by the success of a bold candidate in the Senate race. As a young voter, I have an investment in both the financial and ecological future of Maine; right now, young people see a gentrified wildfire in their future. Voters feel that the system is not just broken, but designed against them, and that powerlessness is the default state for a U.S. citizen. The State of Maine still embodies our motto, “Dirigo,” and the enthusiasm surrounding Platner’s platform shows that Maine, and the U.S., want someone who is progressive and courageous in the face of fascism. As a delegate, I would plan to vote for the person most aligned with Socialist and Labor Party values. Susan Collins has shown nothing but betrayal to both Mainers and Americans, and a candidate with unarguable principles and values has the power to unite both sides of the aisle against the oligarchy.

LGBTQIA+, Youth

Pitts, Kerri

FARMINGDALE

In past elections and currently, I have been very active in grassroots movements. I was an alternate for Bernie Sanders in 2016 and currently work in policy advocacy. I take pride in my ability to rally community members for causes, and look forward to supporting the candidate running against Susan Collins for the remainder of this election cycle.

Portela, Bill B

WINDSOR

I am vitally interested in having a government that responds for working people and the middle class. Our system is no longer a functioning democracy and we need leaders who will fight for us to restore our constitution.

Pratt, Andrew Lamont

AUGUSTA

I would like to participate in this important selectikn

Precourt, Jane C

WINTHROP

I am eager to be part of the solution. Our national politics are so reactive and toxic-- but we have good Democrats willing to run here in Maine and it's important to find the time and energy to support them. We must defeat Susan Collins-- she has done so much damage over such a long period of time. She helped confirm Justices that have robbed women of our liberty and cast the deciding vote to fund ICE-- which just killed a young man in Biddeford. We must elect someone who cares about the people of Maine & is ready to respond to these challenges!

Quirion, Danielle Marie

GARDINER

I am going to support Troy Jackson at the convention. My name is Dani Quirion. I am a lifelong Mainer who has taught science in public schools in Kennebec County for the past decade. During my time as a teacher, I have been a proud union member and advised the Civil Rights Team. I believe in the inherent dignity and worth of all people. Graham Platner's initial success in the primary showed how hungry Mainers are for progressive politics that serves the needs of the working class. We need politicians with integrity who will fight for working people and cannot be bought. Troy will stand up to the corporate special interests and billionaires who fund both parties and have made Maine increasingly unaffordable for working families. His support for worker raises, immigrant and LGBTQIA+ rights, Medicare for All, unions, and a fairer tax system has never wavered. Troy opposes using taxpayer money to fund the genocide in Gaza and supports overturning Citizens United. After the horrific murder of Joan Sebastian Guerrero by an ICE agent in Biddeford, Mainers know we need leaders who will support the abolition of ICE, as Troy does. Troy is the only candidate in the race endorsed by Bernie Sanders. He also gives us the best chance to defeat Susan Collins. In a recent independent PPP poll, Troy was the only candidate who defeated her, while every other candidate was, at best, tied.

LGBTQIA+, Youth

Rambo, Richard

GARDINER

It is imperative that we nominate a candidate that can beat Susan Collins in November. She must go! Graham Platner was a huge force in our politics. He drew many tens of thousands of supporters from across the state, not because of his personality, but rather because he presented clearly to Maine voters what the true challenge and fight is at this time. Our true fight is not left vs right; it's not with immigrants; and it's not sis vs trans! No, it's the "top one percent" that have amassed so much wealth and power that they've been able to buy our government and thus creating policies that favor them. This at the majorities expense and pain! IMHO, whomever is nominated to replace Planter on the ballot must be 'ready, willing and able' to comfortably and faithfully fight for many of those same policies. Policies that will begin to restore balance in this country. Policies that benefit and favor the 99% majority of this country, and not just the top "one percent." In short, this candidate must be willing to give their all to support the middle class, the working class -- all those who are struggling to get by in this current rigged system! I will give my full support to this candidate!

LGBTQIA+

Ranks, Donald

CHELSEA

I want to go because I believe we need to select a candidate that can beat Susan Collin's. I will volunteer to help in any way I can. I am a retired educator and have registered Democrat all my life. When I was younger I led the Democratic Party in Gardiner. I think we need people from all walks of life and hope to be able to help.

Reno, William

LITCHFIELD

I consider myself an engaged voter but at the same time I am not a party insider and I feel like I am representative of a section of the electorate. My current political engagement was energized by the Platner candidacy and his progressive ideology and policy positions and I think this needs to be carried forward as a clear majority of the primary voters made their voices heard. I was a delegate to the May convention and was able to hear from a number of the respective candidates and become familiar with their policy positions. I was active as a volunteer through the primaries and beyond and volunteered on previous campaigns as well. As a retiree, I plan to continue to be actively involved in supporting whoever will be running against Susan Collins as well as Democrats up and down the ballot in November.

Richardson, Bryant Alexander

AUGUSTA

While I have been vocal about my concerns over the person Platner has been historically, and continues to show himself to be, I do think his platform and message has resonated with Mainers due to current state of the world and the need for real reform. I hope to help put forth a candidate that can continue to bridge working class mainers and progressive positions that will help move us forward and hopefully help rein in this rogue federal executive if we are able flip the chamber.

Roberts, Lisa E

WEST GARDINER

I've spent years fighting to elect Democrats in Maine, including serving as Executive Director of the Maine Democratic Party through one of the most challenging election cycles in our history. I know what it takes to build winning campaigns because I've lived it. I also know what it feels like to come painfully close. I'll go to my grave believing that, absent the extraordinary circumstances of COVID, we would have defeated Susan Collins in 2020. Now we have the opportunity to finish that fight. I'm seeking to serve as a delegate because I believe this is the moment for Maine Democrats to unite behind a candidate who can win without compromising our values. There is simply too much at stake to settle for anything less. I've given this party my blood, sweat, and tears, and I'm ready to do it again. I will work relentlessly to help defeat Susan Collins by organizing, mobilizing volunteers, and putting my experience to work building the strongest possible campaign from the ground up. Winning elections has always been about people, and our grassroots movement is our greatest strength. As a delegate, I will proudly represent my town, my county, and the dirt road Democrats who never stop showing up. I know what this fight demands. I know what victory requires. And I'm ready to do everything in my power to help deliver it. Thank you for your consideration. - Lisa Roberts

LGBTQIA+

Roberts, Susan

WATERVILLE

I come from a family who follow politics and vote. I followed Platner's campaign from the start. As a former resident of Queens, NY I also watched the Mamdani campaign. I first voted in the 1972 campaign in where Muskie got sidelined by Nixon's "Dirty Tricks" because he was the Democratic front runner and could very likely beat Nixon. The FBI confirmed this too late for Muskie to make the primary, I believe that in this pivotal election candidates must address the perilous threats to our democracy. I see that candidates who speak forcefully about taxing the rich, providing universal health care, and protecting our environment seem to catch the mood of the entire nation. Maine needs a Democratic candidate with a PLATFORM AND a PLAN for providing the funding necessary to fix our broken healthcare system as well as protect our precious Maine woods, waters, and farms. New York City streets have far fewer potholes, and we could use some of that, too! I want to make sure that ANYONE who wants to run as a Democrat against Susan Collins understands that the reason Platner took 73% of the primary votes was because he had a platform that looked VERY DIFFERENT than Collins "business as usual" approach. If we want to beat Susan Collins we need a strong platform and someone who can speak up, and then act, like Mamdani did in NYC, to level the playing field and help working Mainers thrive.

Robertson, Susan E

WATERVILLE

I am running to serve as a convention delegate to help our County have a strong voice in choosing a Senate candidate that can win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. It is critical that we win this election! My ability to listen well and 35+ years of prior governmental experience (now retired) would be assets when considering candidate speeches and participating in the convention voting process. To help the Democratic ticket win in November, I am willing to participate in phone banks, knock on doors, and provide other needed support. I think it is important to continue to engage directly with voters on critical issues like affordable housing, healthcare access, cost of living impacts, and environmental concerns to keep the grassroots momentum going. I am excited for the opportunity to participate in this democratic process and will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously if elected.

Robie, Mark B

WINSLOW

I am willing to be a delegate to support Troy Jackson. I was firmly in Platner's court but dumped him with the last accusation. I am 71 so I would support younger voices but I do have a voice and am happy to use it. As far as fund raising I am not an excellent choice. I'm happy to step up

Rodman, Gerald

LITCHFIELD

I will support candidates who share progressive values, including universal health care, affordable housing, livable wages for working people and addressing global warming. I want to defeat Susan Collins in November and will work with the Democratic Party, in whatever way is needed, to ensure this happens. It is my intention to continue working in my home town of Litchfield to grow out the movement that has energized so many Maine voters this year.

Rogers, Brett

WINTHROP

I want to serve as a delegate for the nominating convention because I believe the Democratic Party needs more young leaders at the table. As a Gen Z voter from rural Maine, I offer a perspective that is too often overlooked but is essential to building the broad coalition we need to win. If we want to energize young voters and reconnect with rural communities, we need representatives who understand those experiences firsthand. I am ready to do the work required to elect our nominee and defeat Susan Collins. I will knock on doors, phone bank, volunteer at campaign events, and speak directly with voters about the issues that matter most to Maine families. I will also use social media to reach younger audiences, share our nominee's message, and explain how Democratic leadership will improve the lives of working Mainers. Serving as a delegate would allow me to demonstrate that our party values young, working people and believes they deserve a voice in shaping its future. That message can inspire more young Mainers to volunteer, organize, and vote. I am committed to building a stronger grassroots movement that reaches every corner of our state. I will represent Maine Democrats with enthusiasm, integrity, and a tireless work ethic. Together, we can win in November by showing voters that the Democratic Party is fighting for every Mainer.

LGBTQIA+, Youth

Rogers, Jane M

MOUNT VERNON

I believe in democracy. We may have lost Platner as the messenger, but our voices are still strong. I want to be part of the process to take back the senate and house and restore what the republicans have destroyed. I am an active member of my community and the Western Kennebec County Indivisibles. I have and will canvass, protest, write postcards, write Collins and talk to friends and family to vote against Collins and LePage. There's a lot to do and I want to be part of it so my children and grandchildren can live in a true democracy, not a theocracy or autocracy.

Rogers, Jonathan G

BENTON

The decision of the Nominating Convention may be the most consequential political decision made in my life time. My only stake in the decision is as a citizen working to make democracy survive. Our national government is engulfed in corruption, and serves the interest of the wealthiest capitalist oligarchs. Climate change threatens our very existence, and public education is no longer a priority. The American way of life that offered opportunity to every individual willing to work hard is disappearing. Fascism has overtaken the Republican Party enabled by Susan Collins. I will work locally and statewide to elect a Democratic candidate to fill Susan Collins Senate seat. I believe public service is its own reward.

Underrepresented Religion

Rooney, Daniel

KENTS HILL

I would like to serve as a delegate at the nominating convention to help select a Democratic nominee that will defeat Susan Collins. I was recently elected as a Select Board member for Fayette. I have also held elected office for 8 years prior and understand how government tends to work slowly, unless someone pushes hard on any given issue. I believe in a fair and equitable progressive taxation system where all pay their fair share of taxes, including higher income earners. This means the net effective taxes paid are fair after any tax deductions. I believe health care is a right for all and that a universal health care plan is needed. I also believe that we must treat all people with respect, therefore our laws and policies must reflect this. We need to update our immigration system and create a reasonable path for citizenship for all those who want to come to our country and contribute. I believe housing is a right for all and we need to be creative with developing new housing opportunities for all, including working class and homeless folks. Housing should not be allowed to be commoditized by large corporate owners. Finally, the “Citizens United” decision must be undone to take the “big” money out of politics. I was a delegate at the Democratic Committee Convention in May and would like to help choose a candidate that will advance these issues and who will be a strong leader that will represent Maine well.

Immigrant/New Mainer

Rumler, Lucas Todd

MOUNT VERNON

I am passionate about labor rights, parental rights, and active and involved in my community. I want to help make the world safer for my 3 daughters. I have donated and marched and organized for Democratic candidates and left wing causes in the past and will be ready to for the next candidate.

Disability

Rusnov, Christina

WINSLOW

As a lifelong Democrat, a feminist and an advocate for progressive causes, I feel I would be representative of many in our Party today. As a parent and former teacher, I know that access to lifelong learning is crucial. Investing in our children and families is critical to our state's future. I have helped organize and advocated for reproductive freedom, childcare, equal pay, LGBTQ+ rights, and healthcare for all. As an advocate for people with low income, and coming from that background myself, I understand how critical the basics of food, clothing, shelter, healthcare and education are to ensuring a dignified life for all. This can only be achieved with public policy that supports these goals. To defeat Susan Collins and end the threat to our democracy coming from the White House and Congress, we must highlight how she has abandoned Maine people in her pursuit to stay in power. We must organize town halls, chat on doorsteps, spread information through our contacts (asking them to do the same), and encourage others to contribute money/time/skills, write letters to the editor, put up signs. An amazing grassroots movement was created leading up to the primary. We must continue to build on their energy, intelligence, and organizing capacity to beat Collins. We need a Senate candidate who has demonstrated a willingness to fight for strong progressive ideals and is able to communicate effectively in order to keep these activists engaged, excite voters, and win in November.

Ryan, Avery

BELGRADE

I am writing in interest of serving as a delegate for the selection committee due to my longtime residence in Kennebec County and dedication to the growth and success of progressive movements in our state. I have lived in Maine for 29 years, having moved shortly after birth, and have had the privilege of seeing political movements shift the views of my peers over this time. I grew up in Vassalboro, moved to Waterville, lived in Farmington, and now reside in Belgrade. Movements have changed, but at their core Maine voters remain dedicated to making our state a better place for all in a way that intends to be bipartisan and removed from the greater national circus of United States politics. In serving as a delegate, I am seeking to advocate for a candidate who will benefit all Mainers and remove themselves from these petty and sensationalized conflicts and will campaign on concrete change that will make the best state to live even better. I seek a candidate who believes in progressive values, the power of our public schools, and the revitalization of our medical system. I seek a candidate who feels like an obvious choice to win, and one who makes me feel empowered to have tough conversations with the conservatives in my life to challenge their perspectives and move away from the party divide.

Sampsell-Willmann, Catherine Marie

FAYETTE

Defeating Susan Collins is Maine's biggest job this year. I believe that capitalizing and expanding the grass-roots coalition formed in opposition to Collins is the best way to do it. Cementing this coalition and solidifying the unity we all knew was already there reinforces neighborliness as a Maine value. Plus, it will douse the flames of partisan hatred intentionally set in service of division by anti-American GOP hatred and lies. This is how we heal our state and take back our country.

Disability, Underrepresented Religion

Santerre, Jan Ames

AUGUSTA

As a state government employee working with federal funds I feel I have a valuable perspective as to how our delegates to Congress vote. I want to ensure that our delegates promote programs and funding to support universal healthcare, women's rights, and environmental conservation. While Collins may have the support of some groups based on her bills supporting forest industry, she has voted with Trump to support decimation of federal agencies including the EPA, Forest Service, and Agriculture.

Savoy, Pamela

AUGUSTA

I like Troy Jackson and what he has to offer the State of Maine and the United States of America. It makes sense to me that he be our Nominee to beat Susan Collins and get rid of her lies and what she stands by with her votes that affect all of us. I want everyone to get on board with Troy to defeat her.

Saxl, Michael V

BELGRADE

I am seeking to serve as a delegate from Kennebec County to the Democratic Convention on July 25 because I believe the decision we make will have profound consequences for Maine and the nation. The convention's responsibility is to nominate a Democratic candidate for the United States Senate who can win in November and help restore a meaningful legislative check on President Donald Trump. I believe President Trump poses a direct threat to American democratic institutions. His continued refusal to fully accept the results of elections he loses, efforts to undermine confidence in our electoral system, and rhetoric that questions the legitimacy of voting outcomes have damaged public trust in democracy. Many historians and legal scholars have argued that these attacks on democratic norms represent one of the most serious challenges to our constitutional system in modern times. I am also deeply concerned about policies that have strained relationships with longtime allies, weakened international cooperation, and created economic uncertainty. Tariff disputes have disrupted global markets, while abrupt shifts in foreign policy have left allies questioning American leadership. At the same time, ongoing ethical concerns surrounding business dealings connected to the Trump family have fueled public skepticism about whether government decisions are being made in the national interest. For these reasons, Maine Democrats must nominate a candidate who can unite Democrats, independents, and moderate Republicans. As a delegate, I will carefully evaluate each candidate and support the person best positioned to win the general election, protect democratic institutions, defend the rule

Sayles, Masoud

CHELSEA

My hope is for a more progressive policy environment in the United States. In order to secure such a future, a key step is electing lawmakers to represent Maine who will fight back against regressive policy positions, and who will pass laws that uplift working people, shielding them from the worst intentions of the exceedingly wealthy.

Schessler, Eric

MANCHESTER

The National Republican party in its current form represents the greatest existential threat to this Nation presently: traitors, criminals, and their horde of apologists riding on a ship of policy that enriches their allies at the people's expense, often illegally. The policy direction of the Platner campaign has given these fools pause, and has found purchase by Mamdani's hand in NYC, but obviously Platner is no longer a viable candidate. Thus, it is apparent the next candidate must be someone who can take the wheel of the same policy platform immediately and onward. It is essential to wrest control of the Senate from our would-be tyrants, and begin implementing policy that has concrete, measurable impact on the lives of our most downtrodden countrymen. To this end, Troy Jackson stands as the best candidate to fill this position. His life and political experience, boots-on-the-ground approach, and comparable policy platform make him uniquely suitable for our needs, and for the needs of the country. About me: I am a 28-year-old lifelong Maine resident, graduated from UMaine '21 with a Computer Science BS. I am a software steward for the power grid which places me in a high-trust, high-responsibility position every day. I have a deep love of history, especially the period of antiquity when the Roman Republic became the Empire, and I often reflect on how we as free people might avert such disaster. I enjoy cooking, and music, and a good game of chess.

Youth

Scully, Diana C

HALLOWELL

It has been 34 years since I attended a Maine Democratic State Convention. Way back in 1992, I was a delegate for Jerry “Moonbeam” Brown, though Bill Clinton emerged as the winning presidential candidate. So why am I jumping back into the political fray now? Because I feel deeply sad, disgusted, angry, and scared about what has been happening in our country—politically, legally, economically, and socially. Because I feel distraught about the demise of the Platner campaign. However, I also feel relieved, grateful, and energized since the Maine Democratic Party so quickly put in place an inclusive, open, and fair process to select our new Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate. We are lucky to have a slate of strong candidates. What will I do to help defeat Susan Collins in November? How will I help our party continue to build on the grassroots momentum? I will be happy to do anything other than a lot of walking. My bum foot would appreciate that. If there is a way I can help the magnificent diversity of Democrats come together to defeat Susan Collins, I would like to be involved. I’m talking about Democrats who are from different racial and ethnic groups; who live in different parts of Maine; who are young, old or in between; who are straight or LGBTQ+; who lean left, center, or in some other direction; and more. To defeat Susan Collins, we Democrats MUST listen to each other, respect one another, and be united.

Sears, Bobby

OAKLAND

Being a delegate is one more thing that I can contribute. I feel there’s change needed and to support somebody that I feel, has a vision of where we need to head as a nation. And it starts here in Maine, in our own backyard, we need to be a compass. For the rest of the country.

Seppy, Donna May

MONMOUTH

Serving as a delegate on the Special Nominating Committee would be an honor and a meaningful opportunity to continue the grassroots work I’ve been passionate about for many years. As Chair of the Monmouth Democratic Committee, I’ve had the privilege of bringing people together around shared values, supporting our local Democratic candidates and state representatives, organizing community outreach, and co-hosting election gatherings that foster civic engagement. Beyond my work with the party, I’ve volunteered with numerous municipal and local organizations because I believe our strongest communities are built through service, collaboration, and a willingness to show up. Those experiences have taught me the importance of listening thoughtfully, building consensus, and representing others with integrity. I want to serve as a delegate because I believe this Senate race presents a critical opportunity for Maine. I am committed to helping nominate the strongest Democratic candidate—someone who can unite our party, energize voters, and build the broad coalition needed to defeat Senator Susan Collins. I believe thoughtful grassroots organizing and engaged local leadership are essential to achieving that goal. I would be proud to bring my experience, dedication, and collaborative approach to this process. Serving as a delegate would allow me to help shape an important decision while continuing to work toward electing Democratic leaders who will represent Maine's values and move our state and country forward.

Severson, Desi-Rae

WINTHROP

I believe in Dr. Shah

BIPOC, LGBTQIA+

Sevigny, Robert

READFIELD

It is extremely important that the Maine Democratic Party select the best candidate to beat Susan Collins. Susan Collins is no moderate. She is Republican to the core and only votes against the administration when her vote is moot and won't make a difference. Collins is solely responsible for Brett Kavanaugh's appointment to the Supreme Court, and thereby complicit in all the bad decisions he has been part while on the bench. Although Collins voted against the Big Beautiful Bill, she is solely responsible for forwarding the bill to a full vote by the Senate. She could have killed the bill, but didn't and voted with the Republican regime. Collins has never used her position of alleged power as chairman of the Budget Committee to do anything productive for the American people. Collins is a fraud as a moderate. She firmly backs the Republicans with every important vote. Collins approved ICE funding with no restrictions via the reconciliation process. It is outrageous.. Collins must be defeated.

Sewall, Sydney Robert

HALLOWELL

I have mixed feelings about Susan Collins. She was formed by a political culture in Maine where being Republican meant balancing public needs with private goals, where taxes are OK but should be used carefully, and that legislating requires compromise. I believe she tried to maintain some integrity during her years in the Senate, but the current state of the Republican party and the behavior of its leadership have made that impossible. This election will be a referendum on MAGA and Trump – more than an assessment of Collins's accomplishments and failures. Yes, she has brought home the bacon -- but she also has been swindled by Trump on so many occasions that we have a reasonable chance of defeating her. In other situations, she has waffled, "expressed concern," or voted on the wrong side of issues (multiple judicial appointments OUTSIDE of the Supreme Court picks). The Democratic Party needs to choose a candidate who can capture the energy of the Platner movement without turning off moderate Democrats, non-MAGA Republicans, and Independents. The candidate will not need a lot of charisma to outshine Sen. Collins. My skills include expertise in health care delivery and epidemiology along with reasonable competence writing and speaking. I have a lot of experience driving local candidates around who were running for state offices. I'm a mostly retired Pediatrician so have time available -- and in 40 years of practice had contact with lot of families in Kennebec County and generated (I hope) much goodwill.

Shagoury, Daniel Joseph

HALLOWELL

As an elected member of the Maine House, and a long time Democratic staff member, I feel that I have some insights into what it takes to win an election in Maine. I know how to build and maintain a grassroots organization, and understand the importance of one on one conversations with voters to help them make their decisions. I will do whatever I can to defeat Susan Collins this fall - she has got to go!

Shagoury, Juliet Blake

HALLOWELL

To defeat Susan Collins, I am committed to seeking out and having serious conversations with friends, neighbors, and acquaintances about the role Collins has played in undermining our Constitutional rights and the general strength and well-being of our country and its great institutions due to her support for the administration's unethical policies and strategies with regards to ICE, bodily choice, public health, healthcare affordability, etc. I will similarly promote the Democratic Party platform and articulate how each point contrasts with current Republican policies AND how the Democratic Party platform will specifically benefit Mainers. I will commit to canvassing anywhere in the state I am needed and plan to make regular financial contributions to the campaign within my budget, regardless of which Democratic candidate is chosen.

Shea, Matthew

GARDINER

I am tired of my party selecting terrible centrist candidates that don't actually move the needle. Graham Platner's platform was one that finally spoke to me as one that can make a difference in Maine, and I want to help choose another person in the same vein. Never again should Maine or the country give in to the cult of personality that drives so much of politics.

Sherry, Griffin

LITCHFIELD

As a lifelong Mainer, I care deeply about where I am from and the people who live here. My work has taken me to almost every corner of Maine, where I have listened to, learned from, and shared experiences with Mainers of all walks of life. Now, I believe it is time for myself and my generation to step forward, engage in politics at a local level, and participate in a future that fights for the 'more perfect union' dreamed of by the country's founders. My commitment to democratic ideals has been a constant throughout my life, instilled into me by the two working class teachers who raised me. I have been a proud advocate for the Democratic Party since my youth, serving in Boys State and Student Government. As an adult, I caucused and held events for Democratic candidates. I wrote the official Maine State Ballad and I continually use my platform as a musician to champion liberal ideals and leaders who represent them. We currently find ourselves walking a knife's edge. Yet, as a student of Maine history, I know our state's resilience as well as our penchant for fighting for the common good against overwhelming odds and coming out on top. We cannot afford to waste this moment. As the saying goes, 'As goes Maine, so goes the nation.'

Shurtleff, Scott

GARDINER

Susan Collins can be defeated simply by using her own words against her. She has contradicted herself so often, that plenty of video exists to expose her duplicity.

Silcox, Nicholas

WATERVILLE

I am applying to serve as a delegate because I am a longtime registered Democrat who is deeply invested in participating in the political process and ensuring that this is a fair, equitable, and democratic decision. I am also 35 years old and part of a young family. We plan to raise our family in Maine and remain here through retirement, so I care deeply about the future of our state and want to help shape it. As a younger Democrat, I would bring a perspective that is underrepresented among many of the state's most active Democratic Party members. I believe that perspective would be a valuable addition to the delegation and to the future of the party, our state, and the US Senate.

Immigrant/New Mainer, Youth

Silva, Mary

RANDOLPH

This is the most critical election of my lifetime. (And I'm 70...) I will do anything and everything to help finally defeat Susan Collins. I'd love to be on the front lines, but, if that doesn't happen, I am happy to work hard behind the scenes. As for backing Shah, I appreciate his educational background and am thinking, yes, smart. Let's go for smart. I know he is the one that can take on Collins, and win!

Simoni, Amy

HALLOWELL

I would be honored to serve as a delegate for Troy Jackson at the nominating convention. I will do everything in my power as a delegate to support Troy Jackson and defeat Susan Collins. Troy's positions are identical to my own and this current state of our nation will not stand.

Skrabak, James Joseph

FARMINGDALE

As a proud Maine educator for over a decade and a dedicated union leader within the Maine Education Association and the Winslow Education Association, I am putting forward my name to serve as a delegate to this crucial nomination convention. With our Senate race transformed, we must unite behind a candidate who champions working people and honors the progressive legacy that built our middle class. My commitment to public education and labor rights is deeply personal, rooted in a centurylong American journey. In 1929, my grandfather, Joseph Skrabak, immigrated to this country as a child. His family survived the Depression because of WPA work, and after earning a Bronze Star in World War II, the GI Bill allowed him to become the first in his family to graduate college. The stability those federal investments provided eventually enabled my family to purchase our home here in Farmingdale. My daughters are growing up with security today because a past government chose to invest in people over capital. As a union leader, I fight daily for that exact principle. Our public schools are the bedrock of our communities, and our educators deserve a system that values human potential over profit. I want to bring this perspective to the convention floor to ensure we select a nominee who fights for labor, funding, and opportunity. I ask for your vote to represent our shared values as a convention delegate.

Small, Stephen Raymond

AUGUSTA

I consider myself to be a Democrat who supports progressive policy and regard today's progressivism not as a radical idea, but instead as a practical contemporary continuation of the Keynesian principles of liberalism popular in the latter part of the 20th century and includes a deep respect for Eleanor

Roosevelt's Declaration of Human Rights which lately appears to have been ignored by many of our so-called leaders, here and abroad. I believe that since the Reagan administration, we have gradually lost our way, culminating in the disastrous first and second terms of the Trump presidency and I want to see this corruption and kakistocracy ended. As a physical therapist, i have been an active supporter of universal health care for the past 40 years. I have voted consistently in Maine's elections since moving to Maine in 1995 and i have been a poll worker, a call center volunteer and a door-to-door solicitor for political support. I have written to Susan Collins, Chellie Pingree and to Angus King on several occasions to express my views and preferences for their actions in Washington on our behalf. I believe that we Democrats have several excellent candidates to replace Mr. Platner to run against Susan Collins, having a personal preference for 4 of them. I am interested in what other delegates would have to say in order to move me to my final decision. Very truly yours
Stephen Small

Smith, Ashley

BELGRADE

I'm a devoted Democrat who has participated in every election since the age of 18. As a reproductive justice & human rights advocate, I have spent a lot of time in the house & senate, meeting, questioning & vetting our local politicians. I'm experienced in canvassing via phone, email and in person. How will I help defeat Collins? By having tough conversations with members of my community, exposing the truth of how she's acquired massive amounts of wealth while selling out her state and constituents to the Trump Administration. Informing others of the harm she's caused to our fundamental rights as American Citizens.

LGBTQIA+

Smith, Ethan

READFIELD

When voters selected Graham Platner for the Democratic nomination in June, they were voting for change and a new type of politics in the Senate. Platner's personal failings and past behavior violated his promise to those who voted for him, and I believe that his decision to drop out of the race was the right one. However, I believe the mandate given to Platner to enact real change and advance progressive policies remains, and it should be taken up by the next Democratic nominee. I want to become a delegate so that I can help ensure our next Senate nominee remains true to the progressive values and desire for change that Democratic voters supported, and commits to the policies that will best help the working people of Maine. I believe that it is not only the best path forward for our state, but also our best chance of defeating Susan Collins this November. I enrolled as a Democrat the day I got my driver's license, and I've supported the party ever since. I've worked on previous Democratic campaigns, even before I was eligible to vote, and am currently serving as a Summer Fellow for the Democratic Coordinated Campaign. Once we have selected our candidate, no matter who, I plan to canvass and volunteer to help ensure their victory come November. I believe that, as a delegate, I would represent not only our party but also its future, and I would be honored to serve.

LGBTQIA+, Youth

Smith, Rece

BENTON

To defeat Susan Collins I believe we need a candidate that voters are not just okay with voting for, but a candidate they are enthusiastic to support and are willing to volunteer for. Maine voters this June made it abundantly clear they want a candidate that will be pro Medicare for All, to stop funding Israel's genocide, stand up to Trump and ICE, and fight for working Mainers. As delegate I intend to make sure the candidate on the ballot this fall meets these requirements. I believe I am the right person for the job as I have knocked on doors for Democrats, I have listened to what everyday Mainers have to say, and I will do everything in my power to represent the values we share.

Youth

Snowman, Leanne

AUGUSTA

I'd like to be a delegate to represent working class Mainer's who have shown we need change and not another corporate leader that isn't tuned into our needs. I plan to continue to volunteer, donate and work with my local groups to resist and defeat Susan.

Soifer, John H

CHINA

I am very interested in being a delegate to this crucially important convention to be involved with the selection of a candidate to represent the democrats in the senatorial election and defeat susan collins. I have long been involved with politics. I have volunteered on many campaigns including local ones for the legislature and govenor including Govenor Mills. I also was elected to the school board for RSU 18 for the town of China. I have served multiple roles in my local MEA association and served on the government affairs committee for MEA at the state level interviewing candidates for endorsement. thank you for reading my essay and look forward to hearing from you.

Underrepresented Religion

Somers, Elizabeth L

AUGUSTA

I'm applying to serve as a delegate, because I believe this is a pivotal moment for our party, state and country. I've been a registered Democrat for my voting life, and volunteered to make calls and knock doors for many years/campaigns. This campaign was different. It was a coalescence of energy, ideas, community, and hope. Thousands of us across the state reached out to talk to our neighbors, coworkers, family and strangers about why we were inspired and why it is so important to work together toward a better future. This was not about one candidate. This was and is a movement that prioritizes people over corporate interests and strives to create a just and equitable system that serves everyone, not just a few; and the voters responded overwhelmingly with a resounding mandate for substantive change. We have a responsibility to defeat Susan Collins, and to accomplish this, we need to honor the voters' voices and nominate someone with the same convictions, who will fight for the working class, for the marginalized and for the future. I will fight to make sure we do everything we can to put the power back where it belongs with the people, and to build a better future for generations to come.

Springer, Kelsey

WATERVILLE

To My Fellow Kennebec Democrats Since 2024, when national issues have felt too big to help, I found solace in the people of Maine who work everyday to be the change they want to see. I have listened to Mainers for Reproductive Freedom advocates speak on the antiabortion centers in our communities and the lack of funding needed to keep real abortion care centers open. I have listened to Kennebec's teachers as they have had to prep children for the possibility of ICE coming to their schools. I have heard from public health workers about how cuts to funding have created a hole in our health care systems. I canvassed for Platners' campaign, not to ask people to vote for him, but to listen to the concerns of my neighbors who desperately want to be heard. Community members who want congress to hear their fears of ICE killing people in our streets, of trans children in our schools being used as props in a national debate for wanting to play a sport with their friends, of rising costs of housing and the inability for people to stay living in Maine. I got to inform unenrolled and independent voters of their right to vote in the primary, only to now see their voice will not get heard with this convention. It is to be the voice for these Mainers that I submit to be a delegate. It's not my vote I wish to cast at the convention, it's theirs.

Squires, Philip

GARDINER

I would like to ensure the people get a candidate close to what they chose and that the party continues on its current trajectory away from stagnation and irrelevance.

Youth

St. Valle, Abigail Elizabeth

AUGUSTA

I am seeking election as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because I believe our party's success depends on strong grassroots leadership, effective organizing, and a commitment to building a broad coalition of engaged Democrats. For the past decade, I have worked in professional grassroots organizing, helping to mobilize communities and turn enthusiasm into action. My experience as both a city councilor and county officeholder has given me a practical understanding of how local leadership and grassroots activism work together to create meaningful change. As we look toward November, defeating Susan Collins will require sustained voter outreach, strong volunteer engagement, and clear communication about the stakes of this election. I plan to use my organizing experience and community connections to strengthen local networks, expand voter engagement, and help ensure voters across Maine hear our message and are motivated to participate. I am also committed to continuing the momentum our party has built in recent years. Grassroots energy must be nurtured beyond a single election cycle by investing in local leaders, supporting year-round organizing, and creating opportunities for new activists to become involved. As I prepare to graduate from law school and sit for the Maine Bar next year, I remain dedicated to public service and strengthening democratic institutions. I would be honored to serve as a delegate and help advance our shared goals for Maine and our party.

Youth

St. Valle, Storme Jude Owen

AUGUSTA

I am seeking election as a delegate to the Nominating Convention because I believe our party is strongest when it reflects the diverse voices, experiences, and communities that make up Maine. As a Black man living and working in Maine, I bring a perspective that is often underrepresented in our political process. Through my work as a psychiatric provider in the state prison system, I see firsthand the challenges facing many Mainers and the importance of policies grounded in fairness, opportunity, and human dignity. For more than a decade, I have volunteered in grassroots campaigns, helping to engage voters, support candidates, and strengthen Democratic organizing at the local level. My own experience running for a State Senate seat reinforced the importance of meeting people where they are, listening to their concerns, and building trust within our communities. Defeating Susan Collins in November will require sustained voter outreach, clear communication about the stakes of this election, and a commitment to mobilizing Democrats, independents, and new voters across the state. I will continue to use my experience, relationships, and organizing background to help expand voter engagement and strengthen our coalition. To build on our grassroots momentum, we must continue investing in local organizing, welcoming new voices into the party, and ensuring that every community feels represented and empowered. I would be honored to serve as a delegate and help advance a stronger, more inclusive Democratic Party for Maine.

BIPOC, Immigrant/New Mainer

Sterry, Melissa J C

AUGUSTA

Nominate a candidate and do whatever they need to win in November.

Stevens, Eric

MANCHESTER

For decades I have been a voting and supporting the Democratic Party, especially during the Trump administrations, to fight off facism and support democracy. This election is by far the most important in my lifetime and I would like a say in it

Sullivan, Adele M

AUGUSTA

Teitelbaum, Jacob

AUGUSTA

I am a state worker and treasurer for the union for state workers and fight every day to make my coworkers lives better. Susan Collins is the antithesis to labor and cannot be re elected. I have experience canvassing, whipping votes, and discussing issues with members.

Terry, Alexa

AUGUSTA

I plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as our nominee. I am running to be a delegate to ensure we nominate a candidate that can actually win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. I am excited for the opportunity to participate in this democratic process and will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously.

Thomas, Sonja

WATERVILLE

I'm a single parent, a woman of color, a professor who studies race/racism in America, and have lived in Waterville for 14 years. I'd like to serve as a delegate because it is vitally important that we have the voices of women and voices of people of color as delegates in this convention. Right now, our government is targeting people of color in Maine and beyond from ICE raids, to pulling back the voting rights act, to attacks on programs aimed at equity, to erasing our racial history and present, to preventing our health care system address deep disparities in reproductive justice. We live in the whitest state in the nation, and our future senator needs to stand up to the racism of this administration. We have the least to lose and the most to gain by eradicating the racism that is deeply embedded in this current administration. I plan to help defeat Susan Collins through what I do best: education and community organizing: I'm active in my local community as part of the Waterville K-12 social justice group, I am vocal as a community member in local government, I give lectures and help inform people about why Susan Collins' bill on the religious worker visa exposes the racism she has shown towards other immigrant communities, and I help organize youth in central Maine in civics education and activism. As a single parent and woman of color, I know firsthand what's at stake for Mainers.

BIPOC, LGBTQIA+

Tirrell, Scott Gerald

BELGRADE

I believe that Dr. Shah did an amazing job during the pandemic and has gained the trust and respect of Mainers. As such, I believe that he would be in a great position to defeat Susan Collins this year.

Torbert, James R

AUGUSTA

In May of this year I moved to an apartment in Augusta after 42 years of living, farming, and actively engaging in public life in Whitefield (Lincoln County). During those years I served on both the Town Planning and Select Boards and did a variety of volunteer work. I was also active in the Lincoln County Democratic Committee, and in 2016 I ran (albeit unsuccessfully) for the State Legislature against LePage supporter Deb Sanderson. I intend to maintain my active support of the Democratic Party in my new home here in Kennebec County.

Tozier, Melissa

WATERVILLE

What grassroots momentum? Graham Platner built a following based on two things: first, he recognized that Mainers are tired of Susan Collins, and second, there was no other viable option. He spoke to Mainers? Sure. But he also said the same things democratic candidates across the country are saying. Our current government works for only a few individuals. What I want, and what I assume Mainers want, is a government that governs by laws established based on our constitution, that glorious document that was until recently the envy of the world. We want someone who will represent us: Someone who will vote to maintain the ACA, to fairly tax all Americans, to protect LGBTQ+ individuals, to protect women's right to a safe abortion. We want a senator who focuses less on improving life for a few Mainers and who focuses instead on what a senator is elected to do: pass laws that are beneficial for all of the country; keep the executive branch in check and prevent our president from continuing to act illegally; conduct impeachments of all those currently serving who are acting illegally; and represent the interests of Mainers as they related to our state, country, and standing in the world. I want a say in choosing that person.

Treat, Sharon A

HALLOWELL

The future of America's democracy is at stake. I will work with every fiber of my being to help our candidate defeat Susan Collins and stop Trump from ramming through his autocratic agenda that takes from the poor and middle class and gives to the one percent, to the tech billionaires and corporations stripping our land of natural resources and stripping our people of labor protections and civil rights. I want a candidate who unabashedly supports progressive values and policies and is unafraid to push for major change in society, our economy, our healthcare system. Willing to break a few eggs, if necessary. Someone who understands that organizing doesn't end with election day; that for ongoing, systemic change the organizing must continue within Congress and in coalition with Maine organizations and people. We don't need a Lone Ranger – yet we do need someone unafraid to speak truth to power, even if it may mean challenging Democratic Party norms and leadership. We need a problem-solver who will listen -- really listen -- to Maine women and men; who will work tirelessly and energetically to earn their votes, meeting them where they are, from one end of this state to the other. That means someone who can connect with regular people who don't live and breathe electoral politics, including people who don't identify as Democrats. We can't defeat Collins by just talking to ourselves. Unity: I will go all out to help whomever is nominated, whether my first or last choice!

Trehu, Elizabeth

VIENNA

I want to make sure that the momentum and energy that was a key feature of the Graham Platner campaign continues to build up to Election Day in November, and that depends on whom we select as our new candidate and how engaged we feel in the process. I want to have a say in that decision. I will help defeat Susan Collins by devoting the same time and energy that I have done in prior elections. I lead an Indivisible group that canvassed for No on 1 last Fall, for which I requested creation of turfs in our local towns, which had never had turfs before. We had a huge impact, flipping three towns that voted for Trump in 2024 to turn strongly against Ballot Question #1. My group wrote postcards, put up yard signs, and canvassed prior to the June primary and through that we have developed great relationships across our community; people are actually glad to see us when we visit them in our canvassing because we bring information about absentee voting and how to register to vote in addition to candidate information. I feel that I will be better able to get our group members energized to do everything we can to defeat Susan Collins if I am excited about the new candidate and feel that I was part of the process.

Troast, Rebecca

FARMINGDALE

I would like to be a delegate to represent my voice and the voices of my neighbors to defeat Susan Collins. The movement that elected Graham Platner is not defined by one person but by a collective that wants a better life for every Mainer.

Trueman, John Paul Jones

AUGUSTA

I think I can make a difference. As a life long Mainer, a democratic socialist and a good human being

Upton-Sukeforth, Robin L

LITCHFIELD

My interest in serving on the nominating committee is centered on representing my neighbors within Litchfield. In my quest to be the best candidate for House District 56 I have been door knocking and speaking with citizens across Wales, Monmouth and Litchfield. In those conversation, multiple concerns about local, state and national policies have been raised across party lines. Today I will be hosting a meeting for Litchfield delegates elected at the March 2026 caucus and other interested citizens to discuss a path forth to ensure transparency. When speaking with citizens it is important to be authentic, I can speak about my experience within my union (MSEA) as a member of the political action committee. Going foward it is vital to support the ultimate nominee, if I am part of the nominating committee, as I knock on doors and host 'coffee meet and greets' across District 56 I can speak coherently on the nominee's qualifications.

Van Der Lugt, Christopher

HALLOWELL

I would like to serve as a delegate because this convention is more than a meeting; it is the moment when ordinary people in our big small state decide what kind of country we are willing to become. We have a chance—not simply to replace Susan Collins—but to send someone to the Senate who will stand, without apology, for working families, for reproductive freedom, and for a democracy that belongs to citizens rather than the few. Dr. Shah's record of science-driven leadership and steady courage in crisis shows the kind of public servant who can rebuild trust in government and rekindle hope in people who've stopped believing their voices matter. Between now and November, I intend to do the daily, disciplined work that turns ideals into victories: listening on doorsteps, organizing neighbors, and making the case that this election will decide whether Maine's future is written by fear and cynicism or by hope and shared responsibility. I will help build a campaign that is joyful, inclusive, and relentless—one that welcomes first-time volunteers, centers local stories, and refuses to concede a single town or precinct. Above all, I want to ensure that the energy in our town halls, union halls, and living rooms does not end on Election Night, but hardens into a durable grassroots movement that keeps pushing our party—and our state—forward, equitably, together.

Van Der Lugt, Laura

HALLOWELL

This is a moment to step up. As a fifth-generation Mainer, Bates College graduate, Ph.D.-educated woman, and lifelong public servant, I believe our state needs leaders who know Maine, fight for Maine, and never lose sight of the people they serve. Serving as a delegate is an opportunity to help nominate a candidate who will take the fight to Susan Collins, stand up for Maine families, protect our democracy, and expand opportunity for every person in our state. For more than fifteen years, I have worked in Maine and across the nation to tackle complex public challenges by bringing people together to achieve better outcomes. From advancing justice system reform and improving public safety, to expanding civic participation and strengthening communities, my career has been grounded in the belief that government should work for people—and that progress requires both bold ideas and the determination to deliver them. Winning in November will take all of us. It will require organizing in every county, energizing new volunteers, strengthening local Democratic committees, and having authentic conversations with voters who are ready for change. I am ready to roll up my sleeves, mobilize my networks, knock doors, make calls, and do whatever it takes to elect Democrats up and down the ballot. The convention is the starting line—not the finish line. I would be honored to represent Kennebec County and help maintain and sustain the strongest Democratic movement Maine has seen in a generation.

Verbeck, Kristin

AUGUSTA

I plan to support Dr. Nirav Shah as our nominee. I am running to be a delegate to ensure we nominate a candidate that can actually win the general election in November and defeat Susan Collins once and for all. I am excited for the opportunity to participate in this democratic process and will take my responsibility as a voting delegate seriously.

Underrepresented Religion

Von Appen, Lassandra A

WINSLOW

I attended several Democratic gubernatorial debates. All of the candidates are great choices for our next Senator, but the best is Shenna Bellows. She has proven herself as Maine's Secretary of State by forcefully standing up to Trump, protecting our personal voting data, and defending our democracy. She does everything with a smile and with the power of conviction. She connects to people on a personal level, listening to their concerns. She is recognized across the state, visiting many small towns to hear individual voices. She served two terms as a state senator, winning in a Kennebec County district that voted for Donald Trump. She can bring people together and break down political divisions. That said, I will enthusiastically support and campaign for whoever is nominated to defeat Susan Collins. I love this state. My kids grew up in Winslow, Maine, and I have a long record of involvement in environmental and social issues. I have personally met with my representatives at the State House many times, including Senator Scott Cyrway, Representative Paul Flynn, and Susan Collins' staff in her Augusta office, lobbying for the Citizens Climate Lobby, the Natural Resources Council, and the American Cancer Society. Since Trump was elected, I have gone out protesting every week, writing letters, and making phone calls. I am currently campaigning for Taylor West, and I previously campaigned door to door for Kamala Harris. I invite people to join me. I share my passions. I am a fighter, and I won't give up.

Waldron, Nicholas

CHELSEA

I want to serve as a delegate because Maine deserves leaders who put people first. Leaders who believe our best days are ahead of us and are ready to build the economy of tomorrow right here at home. Our state has the talent, the work ethic, and the ingenuity to lead in clean energy, advanced manufacturing, sustainable forestry, and rural innovation. I want to help ensure our party champions those opportunities and keeps its focus on creating good jobs, strengthening local communities, and protecting the Maine way of life. At the convention, my goal is to elevate voices that are too often overlooked; working families, young Mainers trying to build a future here, and rural towns that need investment, not abandonment. I expand our grassroots momentum by organizing year round, not just in election season: talking with folks across the state, supporting local candidates, and helping neighbors understand how policy decisions affect their daily lives. Maine thrives when we look out for one another. I'm running to help build a movement rooted in that simple truth. A movement focused on economic dignity, opportunity, and a future where every Mainer can prosper.

Webber, Charles

WATERVILLE

I am a retired City Letter Carrier and NALC union member. I am available to attend both the Kennebec County Caucus and the Maine State Democratic Nomination Convention. My goal is to ensure we nominate a Senate candidate who represents the will of Maine voters, as demonstrated by the June 9th primary results, and who has the best chance of defeating Susan Collins in November. I appreciate everything that party leadership has done so far to facilitate a smooth and transparent process. I plan to support Troy Jackson as our nominee, and I hope those who also support him will select me as a delegate.

Weitzman, Mary

WATERVILLE

I am running to be a delegate because Susan Collins is fundamentally out of touch with the daily struggles of hard-working Mainers. While she positions herself as a moderate, her pivotal vote to advance the 'One Big Beautiful Bill' favored corporate interests over everyday families. My family feels this burden directly: our monthly healthcare premiums skyrocketed by $684, and I deeply worry about the future of reproductive healthcare for my daughter. Furthermore, my background working in Maine's agricultural community gives me a front-row seat to the severe economic strains facing our local farmers due to these skewed federal priorities. To help defeat Collins in November and build genuine grassroots momentum, I will dedicate my personal time to mobilizing voters right here in my hometown of Waterville. While my professional role prevents me from engaging in political advocacy or organizing within the agricultural sector, I am fully committed as a private citizen to running a robust local ground game. I will volunteer, canvas my neighbors, and share my personal story to expose how Collins's decisions directly hurt our families. Maine needs a senator who lives our reality. As a delegate, I will vote to nominate a strong Democrat who protects our rights, supports our working communities, and will finally defeat Susan Collins.

Welton, Ramona C

AUGUSTA

My name is Ramona Welton and I would be honored to be a delegate for the Nominating Convention. I am currently the chair for the political action committee of MSEA-SEIU Local 1989. I have served this committee in various leadership capacities for 6 years. I am a former state employee with 40 plus years of service for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Most of those years I worked as an Auditor, traveling this state from municipality to municipality working to train staff, implement clear processes and maintain verifiable records. I have served as a delegate at SEIU quadrennial conventions, as well as a member of the executive leadership board of SEIU for 4 years. It is time to apply myself closer to home. The ability to process information from various sources quickly makes me a great delegate for this new process. My involvement in workplace labor management and the statewide healthcare design and oversight committee prepared me for diverse groups and provided insights into dynamics and consensus building. These experiences have equipped me with the skills needed to contribute effectively in this setting. For me it is time to step up, to commit to working for the changes I want to see rather than allowing the roll of the dice to dictate my future. I am known for my commitment to a process and the willingness to ask tough questions. I am committed to bringing these values to my role. Thank you for considering my candidacy.

White, Maryann M

AUGUSTA

I would like to serve as a delegate at the emergency nominatin convention in Bangor on July 25, 2026. I was involved in May and I am active in my local democratic committee and helped run the caucus in Augusta on March 1, 2026. Thank you for your consideration.

White, Molly Marie

AUGUSTA

For the past 10 months I have been an active volunteer leader for Kennebec County with Graham's campaign. I also served as a delegate to the state convention. I would like to continue my volunteer work to defeat Susan Collins by selecting a candidate who holds true progressive views and can energize the people of Maine to win this election.

Whittier, Heather

AUGUSTA

I enrolled in the Democratic Party the day after my Aunt Joanie died. She was a lifelong Democrat (her first door knocking was at 14, for FDR), never running for office but very active behind the scenes for over 50 years. Since enrolling, I've been on city/county/state committees, involved in other ways as well. Someone asked me recently how I felt about recent events, as regards the MDP. My honest response was the story above, along with, reluctantly, 'May be time to leave now. Depends entirely on the process.' It is common knowledge that I am far from alone in this sentiment. Stepping up to be involved in that process seems the best next step forward on such shifting ground. (At this point, I plan to support Troy Jackson as our nominee, & hope those who also support him will select me as a delegate.)

Wieczorek, Hilary Watts

WATERVILLE

I am a stay-at-home mom of three young children living in Waterville, and I would be honored to serve as a delegate for the Nominating Convention. Just like the USA, our family is multi-faceted and diverse: I am a direct descendent of a signer of our Constitution, married to an immigrant, with family members in the LGBTQ+ community and a young child who has complex medical needs. In the 8 years we've lived in Maine, I have been active in the local community, serving as a board chair for two years at a Montessori school as well as recently graduating from the 2026 cohort of the non-partisan Maine State Parent Ambassador program. I have become more vocal in politics during this current administration as well, reaching out to local, state, and national representatives on issues affecting our community as well as attending protests and rallies. While I'm planning to use my MSPA training to push for non-partisan improvements and changes at the local and state level, especially on behalf of children, I also want to be part of building political coalitions focused on providing equity and dignity to all members of our Maine communities. Given that my time and flexibility are limited with caregiving needs, becoming a delegate is a concrete way I can represent the myriad voices of Kennebec County Democrats in the greater effort to unseat Susan Collins and elect a freshman senator who will truly fight for and represent all of the people of Maine.

Williams, Bruce

AUGUSTA

I would like to serve as a delegate to the Senate Nominating Convention for three reasons. 1. It is extremely important to defeat Susan Collins in November. 2. To defeat Susan Collins, we Democrats must be united behind our candidate. 3. As Democrats we must interest, pursue and convince unenrolled voters and cross-over Republicans to support our candidate in the November election. Graham Platner's campaign brought our thousands of supporters because the people of Maine are eager to support progressive positions that benefit the people, not just the billionaires. We cannot abandon those voters now. The grass roots momentum must continue. Endless wars and a very misguided Supreme Court can be laid at the feet of Senator Collins and her 95% voting record of supporting Trump initiatives. This must change. We can change it. Our candidate will be up against millions of dollars from Susan Collins's ultra-rich supporters. We can't give them a candidate with any personal foibles to attack. The campaign discussion needs to be on policy and government not personal attacks. We must choose wisely in an orderly and open process. When the convention closes and a candidate is chosen, we must unite and pledge to work hard for victory in November. I am a reasonable and thoughtful person. As a delegate I will seek the unification of the party behind the best possible candidate. Thank you. Your vote is appreciated. Bruce Williams

Williams, Patten H

AUGUSTA

Considering the importance of the Nominating Committee's work this year I feel it deserves attention. We have a good field of candidates and a Party that wants positive change, I'd like to be a small part of that change.

Withee, Alyssa Danielle

GARDINER

I have served as a delegate to state convention for Kennebec County in the past, and I ran the 2016 caucus for my town when I lived in West Gardiner. That same year, I worked as a campaign manager on seven House races across Kennebec, Somerset and Waldo Counties. Since 2016, my focus has been on electing House Democrats across our state and ensuring we hold the majority at the State House. I work in the Legislature serving the House Democratic caucus, but my support for our local State Reps is not limited to my 8-5 job. I've spent countless weekends knocking doors in the summer heat for current and former elected House Democrats. I've driven candidates to doors after I get out of work to help them canvass their district before Election Day. I have entered data at kitchen tables, ensuring their district information is up to date. That's been my focus for nearly a decade, and it still lies there, but this moment is too big to watch from the sidelines. If I am not chosen as a delegate, then I will step up to volunteer to see that the convention runs as smoothly as possible. I won't take my hat and go home. This is a time for us to come together, in whatever capacity, to see a new candidate selected and to defeat Susan Collins come November.

LGBTQIA+, Youth

Wood, Delaney

WINSLOW

I am seeking to serve as a delegate to the 2026 Maine Democratic Nominating Convention because I believe this election is a defining moment for our state. As a lifelong Maine resident and homeowner, I care deeply about the future of our communities and want to help nominate a candidate who will fight for working families, strengthen our public schools, protect our democracy, and preserve the natural resources that make Maine home. I am especially passionate about the grassroots movement that continues to grow across Maine. Real change begins with neighbors talking to neighbors, volunteers knocking on doors, making phone calls, attending local meetings, and building lasting relationships within their communities. I believe our party's greatest strength is the dedication of ordinary Mainers who step up to make a difference, and I am proud to be part of that movement. As an environmental geologist, I have seen firsthand the importance of protecting our land, water, and communities. My work has strengthened my belief that science, responsible leadership, and community engagement must guide the decisions we make for Maine's future. I am committed to helping defeat Susan Collins by volunteering, engaging voters, and supporting our Democratic nominee every step of the way. Serving as a delegate would be an honor and an opportunity to represent the values of my community while helping our party continue building the grassroots momentum that will carry us to victory this November and strengthen Maine for years to come.

Wynne, Patrick Barry

HALLOWELL

During six years on Hallowell's city council, I consistently staked out leftist positions. I oversaw the rewriting of police department job descriptions to eliminate cooperation with ICE. I openly denounced fascism during public meetings. I advocated for environmental protection, PFAS-free public water, and school funding. These positions are obvious now, but they were not always popular. I did not waver from my core values- even after I got doxxed and had intimidations sent to me at city hall and at my home address. It turns out I'm a better activist than politician. I now serve as president of the Central Maine Labor Council. I believe unions are the best vehicle through which the working class can gain better wages and dignity at workplaces. I believe in single payer healthcare. I believe it is time for a new generation to carry the mantle of progress. I could not be more proud of the children I am raising. They are voracious readers, steadfastly compassionate, and all know how to use an outhouse in the Maine woods. There is nothing more important to me than building a future that they deserve. In fact, to be at the Civic Center I had to drive four hours this morning from Nesowdnehunk Campground in Baxter. I show up when there is work to be done. Please look me up online. I have ten years of news articles and clips that show my receipts! Your vote is a trust that I will not break. In Solidarity, Patrick

Yori, Thomas C

HALLOWELL

1: I would like to hear in person the candidates. I would like to interact with other delegates, hear them, and maybe voice my own opinions. This is a crucial time and we are in a crucial place and I want to be part of it. My preferences will run very strongly to the person who can convey what's at stake now, in everyday words--not a demagogue, but definitely a fighter. 2: Then, in the campaign I offer to stuff envelopes, write letters to the editor, to every paper in the state, drive people who need driving within fifty miles--more if the need rises--and the usual campaign work of knocking on doors and talking to people face-to-face. In those towns that went to Trump there are lots of people who are feeling alone. They don't know how many friends they really have.